Italian Discharge Ports In Albania Bombed By R.A.F.

Greeks Pay Moving Tribute to First British Airman to Fall on Soil

Athens, Nov. 8.

DESPITE unfavourable weather conditions, British bombers yesterday again unloaded deadly cargoes on Albanian ports where the Italians were busily engaged in discharging supplies for the Epirus front.

The British bombers added to the damage already caused by their furious raids of the past few days when they were aided by Greek airmen.

While official Greece, headed by General John Metaxas, Premier, and the Army Chief of Staff, paid tribute to Britain's first airman to fall on Greek soil, Athenians gave the most spontaneous expression of feeling for the British hero ever seen.

Behind the cortege draped in Greek and British flags there was a detachment of Eaon (Greek Nationalist) Youth followed by thousands of civilians.

This first British death in the cause of Greece revived the legend of Lord Byron, the British poet who went to aid the Greeks in their war of independence, 1821-1829, and died there in 1824. The Byron legend even in the most remote Greek village remains as a folktale and hundreds of Greek children still are christened Byron.—United Press.

Battle For Vital Roads

Ohrid, Yugoslavia, Nov. 8.

Italians and Greeks battled for control of three vital roads with increasing violence yesterday.

Greek forces hurled back Italian troops attempting to attack in the direction of Kalpakion and the road from Argyrokastron, Albania, to Janina, Greece, said reports here.

The momentem of the Greek thrust was said to be diminishing along the Korca-Biklista road, however, said reports.

Italians were pushing on in the sector of the Paramythia road junction and retreating Greeks were said to be destroying roads and bridges.

Italian troops which have been advancing in the coastal sector from Konispoli crossed the Kalamas River near the village of Minina, halfway between Filiates and Paramythia on the main road, said reports here.

Attack Abandoned

The Italian troops apparently had abandoned previous attempts to reach Filiates at the head of the main road toward Paramythia and instead had passed Filiates to the west. This move evidently was designed to strike at the main road further south in the vicinity of Minina.

Greeks were said to be retreating and destroying roads and bridges as they fell back.

Paramythia is an important strategical junction of roads which lead to Maroaritos, and the small Greek port of Parga on the Ionian sea.

Much Air Activity

Both Greek and Italian aviation is most active in this sector. During one air battle yesterday morning the Greeks shot down an Italian plane four kilometres from the Greek port of Gomenica.

Other reports to this frontier town said nine Italian bombers, in groups of three, bombed Florina at noon and set fire to the railway station, killing one person.

Ten Greek planes bombed the Albanian port and aerodrome of Valona at 11 a.m., said reports.

Italian fighting planes rose to meet the Greeks and shot down one Greek bomber and apparently damaged another, said reports here.

One Italian plane was shot down by Greek planes three kilometres from Valona, reports said.

The Janina road battle occurred near the village of Visami, about 23 kilometres from Janina.

Italians Taken Prisoner

Fifty Italian soldiers, and two officers were taken prisoner in the fighting, as well as two motor trucks, said reports.

German Troops in Rumania Increased

Formidable Nazi Force Said Above Limits of Oil Field Garrison

London, Nov. 8.

German troops stationed in Rumania have been increased from approximately one to seven or eight divisions, said information reaching usually informed diplomats here last night.

The increases have been made in the last fortnight, said informants.

The reinforcements were believed to exceed the limits of any garrison needed for the oil fields and key transport and communication points. Diplomats therefore believed that Hitler was establishing an army of formidable dimensions in Rumania.

The army would be available either to cross Bulgaria and aid the Italians in Greece or to threaten Turkey.

The possibility also was envisaged that German soldiers might be sent from Rumania to Syria by aeroplane, with an intermediate landing at Rhodes.

Experts said, however, that before trying to conquer Syria, Germany would almost certainly attempt to neutralize Turkey in order to avoid hostile Turkish forces on her flank.—United Press.

Russian Woman Given 10-Year Sentence

Long Terms for Espionage In England

London, Nov. 8.

Anna Wolkoff, 37-year-old daughter of Admiral Wolkoff, former Russian naval attaché in London, was sentenced in London yesterday to ten years' penal servitude. She was found guilty of committing offences contrary to the Official Secrets Act and Defence regulations.

Mr. Tyler Kent, formerly clerk at the United States Embassy, who was convicted last week of communicating documents which might be useful to the enemy, was at the same itme sentenced to seven years.

The hearing was in camera, and took three weeks, extraordinary precautions being taken throughout to ensure complete secrecy.

The judge, addressing the prisoners, referred to two documents which he said Kent had taken from the American Embassy.

Miss Wolkoff, he said, was a Russian who became a naturalized British subject, and at a time when Britain was fighting for her existence she sent a document to a traitor, who broadcast it in Germany for the purpose of weakening the British war effort.—Reuter.

British Capture Post On Sudan Frontier

Cairo, Nov. 8.

A British column, supported by R.A.F. units, last night surprised and captured Gallabat, on the Sudan-Abyssinian frontier according to a communique issued here. They took a number of prisoners.

An Italian counter-attack was successfully repulsed, followed by two heavy bombing attacks.

Meanwhile, it is stated that a British mobile force is continuing to maintain pressure on an Italian detachment in the Jebel-Teneelai area, which is in the Kassala sector.—Reuter.

General John Metaxas Declares Greeks Will Never Surrender

Italy to Be Fought Until Last Battle is Won, States Leader in Stirring Broadcast

Sofia, Nov. 8.

General John Metaxas, the Premier of Greece, yesterday declared Greeks would fight until the last battle is won, according to a radio broadcast from Athens heard here.

"Italian methods will stir our people to fight with ever greater recklessness and courage until the last battle is won," General Metaxas said.

Addressing citizens of Valos, after it had been bombed, General Metaxas said the Italians resorted to "mean, base methods" by attacking the civilian population in open towns."

Britain is sending a steady stream of aid to Greece and the Greeks are satisfied with progress of the war thus far, said the Athens radio.

British assistance was flowing into Greece "regularly and in accordance with plans, the radio announcement said.

Reviewing the past 10 days of the war the announcement expressed satisfaction, saying that the balance was in Greece's favour since Albanian territory had been occupied by the Greeks and Italian prisoners had been captured.

Various categories of reservists of the 1929 class would be called to the colours on Friday, said an announcement in Athens yesterday.

Many Naturalized French Lose Nationality

Vichy, Nov. 8.

A decree published in the official journal yesterday deprived 480 naturalized citizens of their French nationality. Most of the persons were Germans, Italians, Poles, Russians and assorted nationalities of the Near East, mostly Jews.

Only one American-born person was affected. She was Rosalie Roth, born in New York in September, 1884 and married to Salvator Amarof of Salonika, who also lost his naturalization.—United Press.

Krupp Works Blasted in R.A.F. Raid

Berlin Aircraft Works, Freight Yards Bombed

London, Nov. 8.

British bombers last night poured bombs on the vital Krupp works in Essen, Germany, the Air Ministry announced today.

The R. A. F. carried out exceedingly heavy attacks on the armament centre, the communique said.

Royal Air Force operations during the night were extensive, for raids were made on oil targets in Germany and invasion bases and aerodromes in German-occupied areas in France, the Air Ministry said.

Aircraft Works Hit

Flying blind through heavy clouds and storms R.A.F. planes Wednesday night attacked important aeroplane engine works in Berlin's Spandau district, the Air Ministry said yesterday.

Railway freight yards in the northwestern part of the capital also were bombed, the Air Ministry said.

Bad weather made it impossible to make detailed observations of the bombing results, the Air Ministry said.

Three of Germany's main inland harbours—Duisburg, Mannheim and Ludwighshafen, all on the Rhine—were attacked, said the Air Ministry. Oil refineries, railway junctions, an aerodrome and the dock area of Dunkirk also were attacked.—United Press.

Brindisi Raided

Cairo, Nov. 8.

Bombs from R.A.F. biplanes burst in the Brindisi dockyards on Wednesday night during a heavy raid, army officials said yesterday.

The naval dockyard and destroyer and submarine bases, as well as the main railway junction and sidings, were attacked, said a communique.

"Many bombs were seen to burst in the target area and a fire was started between the naval dockyard and railway terminus," the communique said.—United Press.

Assab Bombed

London, Nov. 8.

R.A.P. aircraft successfully raided Assab, in Eritrea, on Tuesday, a Cairo communique states. A large fire started was visible 45 miles away, and the main pier and a number of warehouses were bombed.

An enemy S-79 bomber approached Malta but was engaged by a British fighter. The enemy rear-gunner was silenced and the aircraft is thought to have been seriously damaged.

In the Western Desert and various parts of Italian East Africa, many reconnaissance flights were carried out. From all these operations British aircraft returned safely.—British Official Wireless.

Tower of London Hit in Raid

The historic Tower of London was bombed in a recent raid, it can now be stated.

Another well-known London landmark recently bombed was the Church of St. Clement Danes, in the Strand, in which Dr. Samuel Johnson used to worship.—Reuter.

Fears Expressed For Convoy

Mystery of Two Distress Calls Still Unsolved

New York, Nov. 8.

The fate of a British convoy attacked in mid-Atlantic by a German pocket battleship, was still shrouded in wartime secrecy yesterday.

Short wave listening stations and Government radio bureaux which have maintained a vigil since Mackay Radio intercepted distress calls from two vessels on Tuesday, said no further word had been heard.

The distress calls came from the liner Rangitiki and the freighter Cornish City.

Unconfirmed reports circulated here that British war ships were speeding to the aid of the convoy. Both British and German Government sources were silent.

Both ships sailed recently from an east Canadian port and were believed to be part of a convoy of more than 40 vessels.—United Press.

German Claim

Berlin, Nov. 8.

One British convoy totalling 86,000 tons, was completely destroyed in the north Atlantic by German naval forces, the German High Command claimed today in a special communique.

The special communique said that German naval forces at present operating in the north Atlantic were responsible for the destruction of the British convoy, which was sunk "with one action."—United Press.

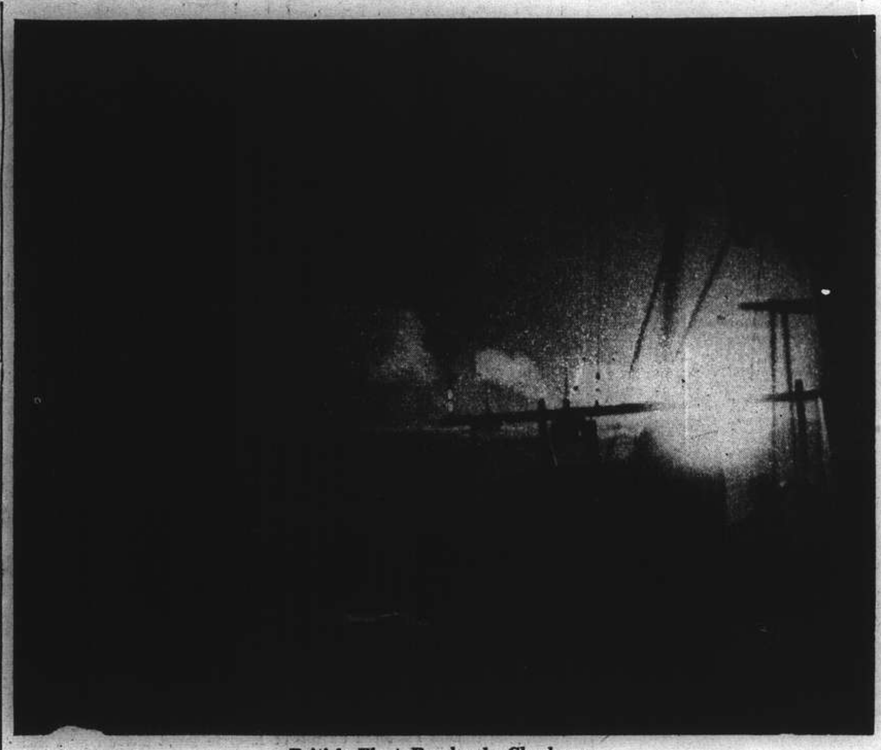
Soldiers Help in London With Picks and Shovels

London, Nov. 8.

Steel-helmeted soldiers in khaki battle-dress, their rifles and other military equipment temporarily laid aside, are helping in the Battle of London.

They consist of 5,000 men of the Pioneer Corps, whose main job in the army is road-building and similar work, but now they are in London with picks and shovels helping to clear up the ravages of German bombers.

A Reuter staff correspondent, who watched them working today, got an idea of the celerity with which these men—old soldiers and men unfit for combatant service—are ridding London of scars. One company of 200 in a single day this week stacked 44,000 bricks ready for removal; loaded 320 tons of debris into lorries; and prepared 15 lorryloads of wood, furniture, iron, etc. for removal.—Reuter.



British Fleet Bombards Cherbourg

During the night of October 10 and 11 heavy and light forces of the Royal Navy bombarded the enemy-occupied port of Cherbourg, taking the Nazis completely by surprise. A concentration of enemy shipping had been spotted in the port and was largely destroyed. The picture shows some of the ships taking part in the operation while they were actually firing on the port.

Nanking Regime Takes Over French Concession Courts

Chungking Judges Hand Over Documents to New Regime Officials; New Judges Appointed

OFFICIALS of the new Wang Ching-wei Nanking regime, accompanied by several truckloads of Japanese gendarmes, yesterday assumed control of the two Chinese law courts in the French Concession, the Third Branch Kiangsu High Court and the Second Special District Court, following an agreement between the local French authorities and the Japanese. The long heralded transfer of Jurisdiction over the courts from Chungking to Nanking was carried out quite peaceably although tension was high, both inside and outside the two courts, as the Nanking officials took charge of all documents, which were handed over by Chungking appointed judges and court officials. Still remaining under the jurisdiction of the Gen. Chiang Kai-shek government are the Chinese courts in the Settlement, although a Japanese spokesman, at the press conference yesterday, stated that he hoped this problem would be settled shortly with the transfer of the courts to the Nanking regime.

After their arrival at the Third Branch Kiangsu High Court in the morning, the Nanking officials took charge of documents, which were surrendered by Judge Yang Pong, President of the Court, after lengthy negotiations. The transfer accomplished, Judge Yang was asked to telephone his colleague, Judge Chen of the Second Special District Court in Rue Massenet, to appear at the Third Branch Kiangsu High Court in order to effect the transfer of jurisdiction and documents of the lower court to the Nanking regime. Judge Chen failed to appear, however, but the transfer of the Second Special District Court was effected at 4 p.m.

Transfer of Allegiance

The taking over of the two courts proved to be uneventful as most of the Chungking officials realized several weeks ago that the assumption of control by the new regime was unavoidable. They were, therefore, prepared for yesterdays happenings. Well-informed Chinese circles told the "North-China Daily News" that many judges of the two courts had come under the influence of the Nanking regime but the most important factor behind the transfer was that the chief procurators of both tribunals had transferred their allegiance to Mr. Wang Ching-wei.

The presidents of both courts and various chief judges of the civil and criminal branches remain loyal to Chungking, it was stated. Their withdrawal from duty yesterday was carried out quietly under orders from Chungking, and their places were filled by the two chief procurators, Judge Chiao Wan-shwan of the High Court, and Judge Sun Saokong, of the Second Special District Court. Minor judges and other official of the court are expected to assume duty under the Nanking regime.

Judges Liu Chao-fu and Chou Taijen were appointed chief procurators of the higher and lower courts respectively, and Judges Wang Kenwei and Tang Li-min assumed the duties of chiefs of civil and criminal branches of the higher court respectively. Judge Yuen Shiao-keng and Chang Min-sen are to serve as chiefs of the civil criminal and civil branches of the higher court respectively.

Strict Precautions

A feature of the transfer were the strict precautions taken by the French police several days before the actual assumption of control by the Nanking regime. Rumours that many Chinese officers of the French police have been affiliated with the new Nanking government have been circulated in Shanghai for some time past and, although there is no official confirmation of these reports, the "Central China Daily News" raised this question while reporting the transfer of the courts yesterday.

British, Australian and U.S. Pacific Agreement Reported

Joint Use of British, Australian, American Bases Said Reached Following Washington Discussions

London, Nov. 8.

BRITAIN, the United States and Australia have reached a defence agreement in the Pacific providing for emergency decisions to be made at short notice, reliable quarters disclosed here last night.

The agreement in principle concerns naval bases and defensive cooperation in the Pacific, although it was not disclosed whether it provides for the use of the powerful Singapore naval base by the United States Navy.

The historic agreement for joint defence in the Pacific was reached following prolonged discussions in Washington which involved President Roosevelt, the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, the British Ambassador, Lord Lothian, and the Australian Minister to Washington, Mr. Richard Casey.

Officials here were reticent to disclose details of the new agreement but it was assumed that it provided for joint use of American, British and Australian naval and air bases throughout the Pacific.

Japan's signature of a military alliance with the Rome-Berlin Axis was believed to have hastened plans for a joint Democratic front against further aggression in the Pacific.

Through the terms of the new agreement, it was understood, Britain, the United States and Australia will be able to throw a long range blockade around Japan in the event of an emergency.—United Press.

Washington, Nov. 8.

The State Department last night disclaimed knowledge of London reports that Britain, the United States and Australia had reached a joint defence agreement in the Pacific.

A State Department spokesman pointed out that British and Australian diplomatic representatives had conferred on the general Pacific situation with Mr. Cordell Hull.

Nevertheless, rumours regarding a definite defence agreement in the Pacific are being discussed widely here, and such an agreement possibly has been worked out. The agreement, it was believed, would cover, or does cover, American naval use of Australian and British bases in the Far East for joint action to be taken in the event of any attack on British or American possessions in the Pacific.—United Press.

Consolation Win For Mr. Willkie

Republican Rally Gives Candidate Victory in Michigan Voting

Detroit, Nov. 8.

Coming from behind in the last hours of ballot counting, Mr. Wendell Willkie, Republican Presidential candidate, yesterday squeezed out President Roosevelt to win in Michigan.

The victory gave Mr. Willkie an additional 19 electoral votes, boosting his total to 82 as compared with President Roosevelt's 449.

Virtually complete but unofficial figures gave Mr. Willkie a margin of about 4,000 votes in Michigan.

The Republican gubernatorial candidate for reelection, Governor Luren B. Dickinson, "the Praying Governor," was defeated, however, by his Democratic rival, Mr. Murray Van Wagoner. Mr. Van Wagoner formerly the State Highway Commissioner, piled up a lead of 130,000 votes.

The Republicans scored a victory, however, in the Michigan Senatorial race. Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican incumbent, defeated Mr. Frank Fitzgerald, Democrat.—United Press.

Czechs Outwit Gestapo At Prague

Anniversary Observed in Spite of Warnings

London, Nov. 8.

The population of Prague has just outwitted the forces of the Gestapo in successfully making a collective gesture to mark the 22nd anniversary of the Czechoslovak Republic.

Heavy penalties were threatened by the German authorities for any form of demonstration.

According to reports reaching London, everywhere workers reported for their daily task. There were no manifestations, and shops and cafes carried on as usual. But when work ended, workers from offices and factories returned straight home, remaining indoors until next morning.

For hours in the evening consequently, still brightly lit shops and cafes remained empty, and streets were practically deserted.

The impressive silence of the Czech capital fell warningly on Gestapo ears, according to reliable reports reaching London.—Reuter.

U.S. Cabinet Reshuffle Expected in Capitol

Washington Hums with Rumours as Secretary Of Interior Resigns in "Accordance With Custom;" Miss Perkins Likely to Leave

Washington, Nov. 8.

MR. Harold Ickes, Secretary of Interior, announced last night that he had tendered his resignation to President Roosevelt, amid rumours of a pending shake-up in the President's Cabinet.

Mr. Ickes said he had resigned in accordance with custom to allow the President a free hand in the formation of a new Cabinet to serve through the President's third term in Washington.

Political observers anticipated that Mr. Ickes probably would be retained by the President in the new Cabinet.

"My resignation is at the White House," Mr. Ickes said last night. "This is customary and I did it four years ago. I believe the President should be left a free hand at a time like this to reshuffle or recreate his Cabinet. He has a mighty task before him. My resignation was made in good faith."

Mr. Ickes said he did not know whether other members of the President's Cabinet would also resign. Asked if he favoured the inclusion of Mr. Wendell Willkie, unsuccessful Republican Presidential candidate, in the new Cabinet, Mr. Ickes replied that "I am not going to offer public suggestions to the President on anything like that."

Miss Perkins May Go

Mr. Ickes was the only Cabinet member to resign after the 1936 elections, but President Roosevelt promptly reappointed him to his post. However, rumours were current last night that other Cabinet members also would resign soon. Mr. Frank Walker, Postmaster General, was expected to leave the Cabinet and Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labour, is expected to be sacrificed to organized labour, aiding President Roosevelt's efforts to bring peace among the nation's labour unions.

Friends of the Secretary of State, Mr. Cordell Hull, have believed for some time that he is anxious to leave the Cabinet, but Mr. Hull himself has offered no indications to support this belief.

There was speculation in unofficial quarters here last night over the possibility that President Roosevelt might summon to Washington Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia of New York City for national defence duties.

Mayor LaGuardia, it was believed, might either succeed Col. Henry Stimson as Secretary of War, or might become chairman of the National Defence Commission.

Supreme Court Changes

Changes in the Supreme Court personnel also appear inevitable. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes and associate Justice James Clark McReynolds both are 78 years of age. Justice McReynolds, a Republican, is believed to have remained on the bench until now only in the hope that President Roosevelt would be defeated and Mr. Willkie would be able to appoint a Republican successor to the Supreme Court.

According to one report, the Attorney General, Mr. Robert Jackson, will be named by President Roosevelt to succeed Chief Justice Hughes if the latter resigns from the high court.—United Press.

Mr. Hull's Position

Washington, Nov. 8.

Washington is already humming with rumours concerning the new administration which will come into office in January.

It is expected that all members of the Cabinet will in due course follow the example of Mr. Harold Ickes, Secretary of the Interior, who announced his resignation last night.

Much interest is centred on the State Department. Mr. Cordell Hull, present Secretary of State, was exceedingly cautious when questioned concerning his plans, but it is widely believed that President Roosevelt is eager to retain his services.—Reuter.

President Speaking Twice on Monday

Address to Be Given at Wreath-Laying Ceremony On Armistice Day

Washington, Nov. 8.

President Roosevelt will deliver two speeches on Monday, Armistice Day, it was announced last night.

The President will speak first at 11 a.m. at Arlington National Cemetery, where he will lay a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak again at 3.30 p.m. at Bethseda, Maryland, where he will lay the cornerstone of a new naval medical centre.

Both speeches will be broadcast throughout America.—United Press.

Calls For Coalition

Wellesley, Nov. 8.

Mr. Roger Babson, noted economist and candidate for President in the recent election on the Prohibition ticket, yesterday called on President Roosevelt to form a coalition government.

"Hearty congratulations," Mr. Babson said in a message to the President. "This defeated statistician, however, humbly reminds you that one per cent of the vote, if properly allocated, would have elected Mr. Wendell Willkie. Therefore you will work for a coalition with both the Republican and minority parties. Please keep well. Four great years are ahead."

Mr. Babson was a visitor to Shanghai earlier this year.—United Press.

Fate of Former Polish Commander Unknown

Smigly-Rydz Not Seen Since He Crossed Frontier

London, Nov. 8.

Uncertainty surrounds the fate of Marshal Smigly-Rydz, former Polish Commander-in-Chief, and the Polish soldiers interned in Rumania since crossing the frontier in September 1939.

Owing to the German penetration into Rumania, the Polish Embassy in Bucharest has been forced to leave, Reuter learns.

Before his departure the Polish Ambassador, Count Raczynski, protested against the violation of international regulations in relation to members of the former Polish Government who had found refuge in Rumania.

According to international regulations, refugee soldiers should be interned until the end of the war on condition they would not be handed over to the enemy, stated the Ambassador, and they should now be provided with facilities of transfer to another neutral country.—Reuter.

French Seamen Asked To Battle Nazis

Broadcast Appeal Made by Merchant Navy Head

London, Nov. 8.

An appeal to all French merchant seamen to unite against their enemy was broadcast last night by M. Jean de Malglaive, Director of the merchant navy of free France.

The broadcast was addressed to those French seamen still in France, as well as those unemployed and without resources stranded in neutral ports.

M. de Malglaive said that in spite of the treacheries of June, 25 per cent. of the French merchant fleet was taking part in the fight against Germany and Italy, side by side with the British merchant fleet, Norwegians, Dutch, Poles, Belgians and Danes, and now also with numerous Greeks.—Reuter.

Immediate Increase in Aid to Britain Expected in U.S.

President Goes Into Conference With Defence Commission as First Official Act in Washington

Washington, Nov. 8.

President Roosevelt made a triumphant return to Washington from his Hyde Park N.Y., estate yesterday and almost immmediately went into conference with the National Defence Commission.

The President conferred with the Defence Board for two hours and fifteen minutes in an historic meeting expected to result in an immediate increase in American aid to Britain, possibly including the early shipment of 12,000 planes to England.

Immediately after the meeting, the Priorities Board was called into session. The board decides what share of American war supply production may be sold to Britain without crippling America's own defence programme.

The Board, it was understood, would consider President Roosevelt's request that Britain be given priority on delivery of 12,000 war planes now under construction or on order in the United States.

Observers attached great importance to the fact that the President's first official act after returning to Washington was to speed up the delivery of American supplies to Britain. Some quarters believed that the President has in mind similar action to increase United States aid to China.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, returned to the capital happy and beaming yesterday to begin his third term in the White House, an honour never before bestowed on any American by the people of the United States.

"We are both happy to be back here for a little bit longer," the President said in a brief statement to the press before meeting the National Defence Commission. "You know how much we like farm life, but of all the cities, we would rather live in Washington than any place else."—United Press.

Soviet Embassy in U.S. Jammed

International Efforts to Win Russian Friendship Reflected at Reception

Washington, Nov. 8.

The diplomatic corps including high ranking emissaries of the United States, Britain, Germany, Italy, Turkey, China and Japan, jammed the palatial Soviet Embassy last night for the grand reception celebrating the 23rd anniversary of the Russian revolution of 1917.

The reception was a vivid contrast to the party held last year when the affair was virtually boycotted because of Russo-American differences and the Russo-Finnish war.

Efforts of the various nations to woo the friendship of Russia were seen last night in the fact that 900 diplomats and American officials, including Mr. Sumner Welles, Under-Secretary of State, and Mrs. Welles, attended the two-hour event.

Washington last night was reminiscent of the night in 1934 when the first such affair was held here after the United States had formally recognized the Soviet Union.

Virtually every Embassy and Legation here was represented by the highest ranking envoys. All shook hands warmly with M. Constantine Oumansky, Soviet Ambassador, and Mrs. Oumansky.

After the "official" termination of the reception, hundreds remained to drink vodka, Russian champagne, whiskey and cognac and eat from tables heaped with rich Russian foods.

The guests crowded the entire three floors of the gaily decorated Embassy. Many found it difficult to reach the bar or the tables of excellent food because of the crowds that gathered around them.

Many Americans interpreted the highly successful reception as a reflection of the improving Russo-American relations.—United Press.

Democrats Win 268 Seats in House

Large Margin of Victory Reported in Senate

Washington, Nov. 8.

Latest unofficial returns in the Congressional elections last night gave the Democrats 268 seats in the House of Representatives as compared with 162 for the Republicans.

In the Senate the Democrats had won 66 seats to 29 for the Republicans and one for the Progressives.

Political observers believed last night that the results forecast closer Congressional cooperation with President Roosevelt than in the President's second term. The returns also indicated that midwest Republican leaders are assuming greater party control.

The Administration is expected to benefit from gains in the House, particularly since the additional Democratic members will enable the Administration to outvote not only the Republicans, but the Democratic bolters.

Regarding the shift in Republican party control to the midwest, it was pointed out that seven of the nine states won by Mr. Wendell Willkie were in the midwest. The Republicans also gained Senate seats in Nebraska, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Senator Arthur Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan, was reelected against a Democratic trend. Eight Republican governors also were reelected in the midwest and Rocky Mountain states.—United Press.

Navy Boosts Salaries Of Civilian Workers

Adjustment Not to Affect "White-Collar" Men

Washington, Nov. 8.

Col. Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, announced yesterday that he had approved a Navy board report recommending wage increases for approximately 117,000 civilian employees of the Navy.

The wage increase will become effective on November 18, Col. Knox said. The Navy Department declined to estimate the total sum of the wage increases, but it was pointed out that this is the first general readjustment of pay for civilian employees of the Navy since 1929.

The increase will affect three classifications of Navy employees. The first group comprises about 40,000 unskilled and semi-skilled workers in Navy stations and Navy yards. They will receive altogether about $3,800,000 more yearly.

The pay increase will not affect white collar employees of the Navy because their salary scale is fixed under the 1925 Classification Act.—United Press.

German-Made Artillery Discovered in U.S.

Guns in Perfect Condition Hidden Near Arsenal

Morristown, N.J., Nov. 8.

Sheriff Henry Sperling announced here today that his deputies had confiscated a German-made eight centimetre field piece concealed in the woods "within ten miles of the Picatinny arsenal at Dover."

He said the field piece was slightly larger than a French .75 and was in perfect condition.

Seizure of the field piece resulted from an anonymous tip "that a cannon had been trained on the arsenal," he said.

The sheriff said his deputies also had found two other cannons containing several dummy wooden shells such as are used for practicing loading and firing. He said both units were mounted on carriages.—United Press.

Flour Subsidy Raised

Washington, Nov. 8.

The Department of Agriculture announced yesterday that it had increased the export subsidy payment on flour shipped to countries of the Western Hemisphere from 85 cents to $1.05 per barrel. The rate on flour shipped to the Philippines remains unchanged at 70 cents per barrel.—United Press.

Kwangsi Cleared Of Japanese

Small Detachment Holding Out at Yamchow; Fall of Port "Imminent"

Chungking, Nov. 8.

Kwangsi Province is now almost cleared of Japanese troops, only small detachments still holding out at Yamchow on the sea coast, the fall of which is described by Chinese military quarters as imminent. During the past few days, it is stated, Chinese forces have occupied heights in the outskirts dominating the port.

The main body of Japanese forces at Ichang is reported to be withdrawing down the river towards Hankow under protection of aircraft. There is no information however confirming rumours that the Japanese are abandoning Ichang.

In southern Honan Chinese forces are attacking Sinyang, key city on the Peiping-Hankow Railway near the Honan-Hupeh border. Fighting is said to be progressing on the outskirts of Sinyang.—Reuter.

Ichang Evacuation Denied

Tokyo, Nov. 8.

A German news agency report from Chungking claiming that Japanese forces are evacuating Ichang was dismissed by official circles here today as a fabrication, states a Japanese announcement. The news agency claimed that Japanese forces will evacuate Ichang in the next few days. It was estimated that some 6,000 Japanese soldiers recently left Ichang in the direction of Hankow, the report added.

Official circles point out that Japanese troops at Ichang have just completed a mopping-up campaign instead of evacuating as claimed.—

Bases Captured

Hankow, Nov. 8.

In cooperation with army aircraft, seven Japanese detachments cleared the area north-west of Ichang of Chungking forces and captured their bases at Nantsinkwan and Titzuyen in a two-day campaign launched on Wednesday, according to field despatches reaching here today.

The enemy forces retreated after suffering a loss of 300 killed, while 30 were taken prisoner by the Japanese. Booty gained by the Japanese included three trench mortars, 600 rifles and a large quantity of ammunition.—Domei.

★Artillery Thunders Near Albania

Three Greek planes bombed one of the Italian bases at Argyrokastron early yesterday morning.

The Koritza road fighting centres on the northeastern spurs of the Morova mountains, dominating one side of the pass through which runs the road. The other side of the pass is dominated by the Suha mountains.

Greek Third Army troops were battling desperately to force the pass and get through to Cangan, said reports here.

Artillery Exchanges

Greek artillery was concentrating on motorized Italian troops on the Cangan-Korca road. Italians shelled the Greek rear from heavily fortified positions in the Morova and Suha mountains.

Cannonading from that sector is audible in this frontier town.

Seven Italian transports with new contingents of motorized troops arrived in Drac (Durazzo), Albania, late Wednesday, said reports here. The troops are believed destined to reinforced the Koritza sector.—United Press.

Greeks Attack

Monastir, Yugoslavia, Nov. 8.

The heaviest cannonading since hostilities began was heard yesterday afternoon in the Koriza sector as Greek troops attacked Italians along the eastern slope of the Morova mountains.

Thunderous artillery fire started at 2 p.m. and continued for hours, said reports from Stenje on the west shore of Lake Prespa, near the Albanian frontier.

The Greek attack was said to be meeting with some success.

Fighting was reported on the southern shores of Prespa Lake.

Village Heavily Bombed

Italian bombers virtually have destroyed the Greek village of Germann, about five kilometers east of Lake Prespa, said reports.

Fighting along the shore indicates the Italians may be trying to force their way across the lake itself and effect a landing in Greek territory.

Italian planes were said to have bombed Florina steadily since yesterday at 8 a.m.

Travellers from Greece said Florina was practically deserted, the entire population having fled into the mountains. All shops were closed and food was not obtainable, travelers said.

The Greek anti-aircraft force in Florina was said to be very weak.

Most of the wounded Greek soldiers arriving from the front were said to have been wounded by bombs.—United Press.

More Italians Surrounded

Budapest, Nov. 8.

Greek troops have encircled a full Italian regiment on the northern front and hundreds of Italians have surrendered, said a Greek radio broadcast intercepted here yesterday.

The Greek army is holding the initiative along an extended radius of action in Albania, the radio report said.

Italian planes bombed Kompolis on the Ægean coast and some persons were killed, the radio report said.

Greek and British planes bombed Valona, damaging the Italian naval base and an Italian warship in the harbour, the reports also said.—United Press.

U.S. Ships for Britain

New York, Nov. 8.

British may buy all or part of 63 vessels owned by the United States Maritime Commission, according to a Washington report published by the 'New York Times" which adds that negotiations in connection with it are now in progress. Between 80 and 100 privately-owned vessels may also be purchased.—Reuter.

Norway Operations Planning Queried

First Lord of Admiralty Declines to Give Details On Narvik Evacuation

London, Nov. 8.

The First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. A. V. Alexander, declined a request in the House of Commons to disclose operational details of the evacuation from Narvik and the circumstances in which H.M.S. Glorious was lost, on grounds that such information would be of great interest and use to the enemy.

The request was made on the adjournment motion by Mr. Stokes, Labour member for Ipswich, who said he was not unmindful of the good work done by the Navy, but there existed concern in the public mind following events at Narvik, whether on the operational and planning side there were not weaknesses which called for remedy.

He was followed by Commander Bower, Conservative, who alleged that as a consequence of the representations he had made privately to the First Lord on questions raised by Mr. Stokes, he had been victimized in the naval service to which he had returned on the outbreak of war. These representations had been urged, he asserted, by brother naval officers in responsible positions who he said, were disquieted at the whole conduct of naval operations in Norway by the Higher Command.

Mr. Alexander denied there had been any victimization of Commander Bower.

On the main question, he pointed out, they were fighting an enemy of most unscrupulous character who was certainly not prepared to give anybody any kind of information which had been asked for by Mr. Stokes.—British Official Wireless.

★Nanking Regime Takes Over Courts

Chungking reaction to the transfer was not known yesterday in Shanghai but reports here indicated that the move was anticipated and that the judges had been warned to withdraw when the situation had become intolerable. The judges, it was stated, would be paid by the Ministry of Justice in Chungking.

Chinese residents in the French Concession were uneasy as news of the transfer was circulated and it is believed that many may move to the Settlement. Several Chungking organizations took this step after the capitulation of France and the entry of Japanese troops into Indo-China.

"Armed Camp"

The district surrounding the Second Special District Court in Route Stanislas Chevalier had the appearance of an armed camp yesterday with three armoured cars in attendance, while a number of police, both Chinese and foreign, were on duty in the vicinity. The policemen were in steel helmets and the foreigners armed with automatic rifles. No incidents, however, are known to have occurred during the transfer of the court to the Nanking authorities.

French Police, however, were reticent on the affair in the morning and would give no information whatever as to the proceedings that were taking place. When one newspaper photographer told a French chief-inspector that he believed the court would be handed over at 11 a.m., the police officer answered that the press had always been better informed than the police. Photographers, meanwhile, were not welcome at the scene and two of them, it is known, were prevented from taking pictures during the day. The first happened in the morning when Mr. B. Schwartz was taken to the French Police Headquarters where he was threatened with having his camera confiscated, while another photographer, from a Chinese paper, passed through the same experience in the afternoon.

Official Statement

Very little could be learned from the French Police on the actual transfer of the Second Special District and High Courts, but a high official stated that there would be no changes in personnel, although a new President would take over the position.

Meanwhile, an official statement was issued by M. de Margerie, French Consul-General in Shanghai, yesterday afternoon with regard to the transfer of the courts in the French Concession. The full text of the communique is as follows:—

"The French and Japanese authorities have come to an understanding on the question of the Chinese law courts in the French Concession, which was pending for some time.

"Following the agreement, the Chinese law courts in the French Concession will function according to the terms of the Franco-Chinese convention of July 28, 1931, under the jurisdiction of the Nanking Government, starting on November 8, 1940."

Spokesman's Statement

The Japanese Embassy spokesman stated yesterday that negotiations between Nanking and French authorities initiated by Japanese authorities with regard to the Chinese courts in the French Concession had finally reached a conclusion with complete agreement of views between the two authorities.

Beginning yesterday therefore, the spokesman said, the Chinese courts in the French Concession will function under the administration of the Kuomintang government in accordance with the terms of the Sino-French Agreement of 1931.

Asked by a correspondent at the press conference exactly what that meant, the spokesman replied that it meant that henceforth the two Chinese courts in the French Concession will perform their functions with the orders coming from Nanking instead of from Chungking.

No negotiations have been started in the International Settlement with regard to the Chinese courts there, the Embassy spokesman added, but it is hoped of the Japanese authorities that a similar agreement will be made between Nanking and the authorities of the International Settlement.

Asked why Japanese gendarmes were present when the transfer was was made, the spokesman stated that he could not say why they were present but that there was nothing untoward about their presence in view of the fact that the Chinese courts concerned were situated in the French Concession.

Queen Comforts Bereaved Mother

Three Alarms Sounded as Their Majesties Inspect Bombed Merseyside Area

Liverpool. Nov. 8.

King George and Queen Elizabeth visited the badly bombed Mersey district yesterday. Three air raid alarms sounded while they made their inspection.

A weeping woman told the Queen her four sons had been killed in the bombings.

"But I shall be unmindful of my loss if we win the war," the woman told Queen Elizabeth as the Queen held the weeping woman's hand."—United Press.

Morning Raid

London, Nov. 8.

The drone of German warplanes and the thunder of high explosives were heard in southwest England this morning after a night of relative quiet.

The night raid over London started one half hour later and ended much earlier than in the past several nights. The activity was intense while it lasted, especially in the initial period.

Fast-flying raiders scattered bombs in many districts throughout London, but they were met by a tremendous anti-aircraft barrage which rattled windows and rocked homes.

High explosives struck an ambulance depot on London's outskirts, causing several casualties, None was injured, however, when an air raid shelter and a charity home for the aged were hit.

Hospital Hit Again

One hospital previously bombed received a shower of incendiaries. The nursing staff extinguished numerous embryo fires before they caused much damage.

In one district in outer London 40 bombs were dropped, causing several fires which were quickly extinguished. A number of persons were trapped in the debris of bombed homes in two districts.

Five high explosives crashed in an open space near a traffic stream in one district, but no casualties were reported.

Two minor raids occurred on one town in the Midlands, causing slight residential damage and no casualties. Other raiders were reported over Liverpool.—United Press.

Seven Nazi Planes Downed

London, Nov. 8.

Seven German aircraft were shot down in raids on Britain yesterday, while five British planes were lost although all the five pilots were rescued, according to the Air Ministry.

Of the seven German machines brought down, four—three Messerschmitt 109's and a Junkers 87 bomber—were sent crashing into the sea off the coast by one Hurricane squadron.—Reuter.

Soviet Display of Military Might

Imposing Ceremony at Red Square in Moscow; Women Aviators March Past Too

Moscow, Nov. 8.

The defensive might of the Red Army was displayed in Red Square here again yesterday as Russia celebrated the 23rd anniversary of the Soviet Union.

Approximately 50,000 soldiers, 800 war planes and 2,000,000 civilians participated in the ceremonies held here under a cloudless blue sky in crisp autumn weather.

A giant parade included 300 women aviators and several new types of guns. One of these was a long range gun transported mechanically in three parts. Many anti-aircraft units also were featured. Each unit included a trailer attached to a truck and carrying sixteen members of the gun's crew.

Imposing Sight

Units of the Red Army, dressed in long field coats and winter fur caps marched past in rows of sixty abreast, presenting an imposing group of well-drilled manpower.

Addressing Red Army troops in Red Square, the Commissar for Defence, Marshal Semyon Timoshenko, stressed Russia's policies of peace and neutrality but urged increasing vigilance and preparedness in Russia as dictated by the current international situation. He also reviewed Russia's economic gains during the past year.

"We are living through a difficult international situation," he said. "War is constantly spreading into new lands. Practically one half the people of the world are now belligerents.

"The Soviet Union has extended its borders, but we can not be contented with what we already have achieved. We must be increasingly vigilant and prepared to maintain a state of mobilized preparedness so that no enemy attack will catch us unprepared."—United Press.

Japanese Gendarme Shot

It is believed that a Japanese gendarme was shot in the shoulder last night in Chinese-controlled territory on Singapore Road after an encounter with a gang of armed robbers. A patrol of Japanese gendarmes was walking down the road when an alarm was raised and a number of armed robbers pursued. In the course of the chase some shots were fired, resulting in the wounding of the gendarme.

A party of Police from Pootoo Road Station turned out in answer to an alarm and went up Singapore Road, but it is understood that they were unable to obtain a full report of what happened, since the affair took place in Chinese-controlled territory.

Eire Refuses to Supply Bases

"We Don't Intend to Give Them Back" Says Mr. De Valera

Dublin, Nov. 8.

"We have the ports and we don't intend to give them back."

With those words, Mr. Eamon De Valera, the Prime Minister of Eire yesterday replied to a statement by Mr. Winston Curchill, the British Prime Minister, that British naval action was greatly handicapped because ports in southern and western Ireland could not be used.

Mr. De Valera flatly rejected any suggestion that ports in Eire be used as refuelling or supply bases by British warships.

"There can be no question of handing the ports over under any conditions whatever," Mr. De Valera said. "There can be no question of handing them over as long as this nation remains neutral."

Mr. De Valera characterized as a lie the allegation that German submarines or any other submarines were being supplied with fuel and provisions from ports in Eire.

"It not only is a lie but it is known to be a falsehood by the British Government itself," Mr. De Valera said. "Any attempt to bring pressure to bear on us by any belligerents would only lead to bloodshed.

"As long as this Government remains in office we shall defend our rights," Mr. De Valera said."—United Press.

"Neutrality" Stand Deplored

London, Nov. 8.

Lord Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, last night made a statement deploring the refusal voiced by Mr.. Eamon de Valera, Prime Minister of Eire, to grant Britain port facilities in Eire.

"However deeply the attitude of the Eire Government may be deplored," said Lord Craigavon, "none who has closely studied each successive stage in the policy of Southern Ireland can be in the least surprised. It has been evident all along that Eire, while accepting concession after concession from Great Britain, intended to give nothing in return.

"In the midst of a war which the Empire is fighting for its existence Eire claims neutrality, even though by doing so she is creating difficulties for the one power to whom she owes her preservation, Mr. de Valera's announcement marks the culminating point in a process which we in the north have foreseen for many years past."—Reuter.

Campagin Alleged

Mr. de Valera said, "I don't know whether everybody is prepared to take the statement the way I am prepared to take it—simply as a natural expression of regret—or whether it portended something....

"But we have the ports and we don't intend to give them back . . . I would not make any reference to the matter at this stage if it were not for the fact that an extensive press campaign is being carried on in England and re-echoed in the United States."

The Prime Minister said that the Eire Government always aimed to establish friendly relattions with the English people.—United Press.

Aircraft Carrier Said Still at Martinique

No Change Seen Pending Negotiation on Planes

San Juan, Porto Rico, Nov. 8.

Reliable naval sources here yesterday said the French aircraft carrier Bearn still is in Port de France.

The situation will remain unchanged, naval sources said, until an official commission arrives in Martinique to discuss return of aeroplanes manufactured in the United States for delivery to France and held in Martinique since France's defeat.—United Press.

De Gaulle Takes Lambarene

London, Nov. 8.

Free French forces in equatorial Africa occupied Lambarene, in south Gabon, on November 5, a communique issued from the headquarters of General Charles De Gaulle said yesterday.

The Free French forces surrounded Lambarene after a series of difficult operations and laid siege to it, pending capture of the town, the communique said.

The garrison which resisted, "despite the wishes of the population," said the communique, finally surrendered with the exception a few who escaped into the bush.

(Lambarene was bombed last week and a number of the population, military and civilian, were killed, according to previous reports from Vichy.)—United Press.

Mr. Ware pleaded guilty to exceeding the waiting period on Hongkong Road, stating, however, that the offence was unintentional. Mr. Ho pleaded not guilty, but after the evidence of Sergeant S. H. Holtam was heard, Commissioner Lurton found him guilty. Inspector G. Craik prosecuted for the S.M.P.

Spanish Refugees Again Held Up

Mexican Efforts Delayed By Italian-Greek War

Vichy, Nov. 8.

The Mexican Government's efforts to repatriate Spanish political refugees from French camps to Mexico yesterday received a temporary setback because of the Italian-Greek war.

The Mexican Government had chartered a Greek steamer to carry the first consignment of several thousand Spaniards and had paid down 2,000,000 francs as a guarantee.

When the Italian-Greek war began, however, the steamer's sailing was cancelled because there was no guarantee the Italians would not sink or capture the Greek ship with its Spanish Republican refugees.

Mexico asked if the ship could not be changed to the French flag for the duration of voyage, but the French Government declined.

Sailing plans, therefore, were interrupted until another ship can be chartered and that is not believed possible before December.

Meanwhile, Spanish refugees are well quartered in winter camps where their upkeep is shared by the French and Mexican governments.

The French Government again insisted that no Spanish refugees have been handed back by France to Spain and that none wil be regardless of the delay in sailing arrangements.—United Press.

Chungking Spokesman Denies Peace Talk

China's Fixity of Purpose Re-emphasized

Chungking, Nov. 7.

Terming it "absolutely groundless," the spokesman for the Foreign Office today strenuously denied the report appearing in a Japanese newspaper published in Shanghai, claiming that "on October 24 the Italian. French and German Ambassadors in Chungking addressed a proposal to the Chinese Government for the conclusion of peace with Japan."

The spokesman pointed out that the German and Italian Ambassadors in China have not been in Chungking for some time.

"We are convinced," he added. "that no amount of rumour cou'd ever obscure China's fixity of purpose and determination to carry on her fight to the bitter end."—Havas.

Russian Regiment Changing Quarters

Seaforth Billets in Race Course Being Taken Over, Same Duties Remain

Bristling with life only three days ago, the quarters of the Russian Regiment on the Bund and in Kiukiang Road appeared deserted yesterday when the premises were vacated, rumour having it that the Japanese would take over the buildings since it is known that they are the property of Chinese government banks.

The Regiment, meanwhile, temporarily will stay in the Race Course billets vacated by the Seaforth Highlanders when they left Shanghai some time ago. Although not as comfortable as those on the Bund, the billets are said to be very spacious, while the sports section of the Russian Regiment will find all facilities to develop its well-known prowess.

It was in February 1938 that the Regiment occupied the Bund premises after staying a few months in the then not completed Liza Hardoon Building at the corner of Nanking and Szechuen Roads. The Sino-Japanese conflict of 1937 found the Russians completely unprepared about housing facilities and, after they had been relieved from "B" Sector by the arrival of additional British troops in Shanghai, the Regiment was at first housed in the Chinese Polytechnic School in Pakhoi Road, moving into the Liza Hardoon Building later on.

It happened here that all the three companies of the Russian Regiment lived together for the first time, although it was not long before one of the units was transferred to the Municipal Building. In February, through mutual agreement, the Russian Regiment took over the premises on the Bund.

Moving to the Race Course will mark the second time in many years that all the companies of the Regiment will be together.

Meanwhile, it is learned that the guarding of the pontoons on the Bund, carried out by the members of the Regiment since the beginning of 1939, will be continued, special arrangements to convey men to and from the Bund having been arranged.

The Russian Regiment will be soon transferred to the Shanghai Municipal Police as their reserve unit, with special quarters being reconditioned for them in Amoy Road, occupied previously by the foreign gaol and more recently as a hostel for destitute men by the Salvation Army.

Alleged Accomplice of Widler Remanded

Unrecognized German in District Court

Alleged to be an accomplice of Elly Widler in the removal of more than $1,000,000 worth of copper from the godown of the Commercial Express and Storage Company, which case has been a bone of contention among several authorities here, Wilhelm Bender, an unrecognized foreigner was finally brought before the First Special District Court yesterday after having been in the custody of the police for about a fortnight.

Counsel for the accused sought to remove the charge against Bender by asking the judge to request the Shanghai Municipal Police to show a letter, which was said to have been sent by the Japanese military authorities, stating that the alleged stolen copper was in their hands and that the affair was a political one.

The Municipal Advocate, however, asked that Bender and his two alleged Chinese accomplices be remanded in custody pending further investigations and this request was granted. Another trial will be held on November 25.

An unrecognized German, accused was arrested by the Settlement police in Hongkew some time ago but the latter have so far failed to execute the warrant of arrest issued by the Swiss Consul-General against Elly Widler, alleged master mind behind the case. Widler has never admitted that he has stolen the copper, which, he says is Chungking contraband.

Alleged Counterfeiters In Court

Police Seize Spurious Bank Notes in Bus

Three alleged Chinese bank note counterfeiters and smugglers were brought before the First Special District Court yesterday and after a short hearing they were remanded in custody pending further investigations during which the police hope to make more arrests.

One of the accused is a woman, who was arrested on Thursday in a bus by the Gordon Road police and in her possession 1,000 sheets of 50-cent notes, purporting to be issued by the Farmers' Bank, were found. Through her alleged confession, the police arrested the two other accused, all men, at two places and in the possession of one of them some $5 notes purporting to be issued by the Central Bank of China were found.

Wang Yen-kong, one of the accused men denied that he had given the fake notes to the accused woman but the latter insisted that she received the notes from him. The other accused man also denied that he had anything to do with the case but it was in his possession that the police found the other counterfeit bank notes.

Barricades Removed

Barricades erected by the Japanese on Great Western Road, near Tifeng Road, some weeks ago have finally been removed, it was learned yesterday. At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon parties of workmen removed the barbed wire entanglements, which were placed adjacent to the Country Hospital. It is expected that the bus service to the Western district, which has been restricted since the erection of the barriers will be resumed fully today or tomorrow. A number of buses were sent out to Tunsin Road yesterday, beyond the former position of the barricades, and encountered no difficulties. The Yu Yuen Road barricades, however, remain. buses being stopped and searched.

Mail Destroyed in Chungking Raid

Quantities of air mail from Shanghai were destroyed during a Japanese air raid on October 26. In the course of the raid two direct hits were scored on a Post Office steel pontoon, completely wrecking it. Some inward mail for the city, which was lying on the pontoon, was destroyed with it, among this being air mail from Shanghai, via Hongkong. It is believed that the air mail was posted in Shanghai on October 14, 15 and 16.

ss. Mariposa Due On Monday Morning

Evacuation Liner Leaves On Same Day

The ss. Mariposa, second American evacuation liner to call at Shanghai to take off U.S. nationals, is expected to enter port at about noon on Monday morning, a day behind schedule. The liner, which will be taking about 90 first class passengers on board from Shanghai, will tie up in mid-river for her brief stay of nine hours here. A tender will arrive from the Mariposa at the Customs Jetty at 12.30 p.m., tenders for outgoing passengers for the ship leaving the Jetty at 5.30 and 7.30 p.m. The ship will leave shortly after taking the passengers on board.

From Shanghai the vessel will pick up Americans evacuating from North China, and thence to Japan and San Francisco, being due to arrive in America early in December. When the Mariposa arrives in Shanghai she will have no passengers on board. Those embarking at Shanghai have all booked first class accommodation, Cabin Class rooms having been reserved for North China evacuees.

The Matson liner will be followed by the ss. Washington, third and largest of the evacuation steamers, which is due to arrive in Shanghai on November 19, leaving again for San Francisco on November 21. The Washington, which has special cheap accommodation, is more heavily booked than either of the preceding evacuation ships.

It will be recalled that over three hundred Americans left in the ss. Monterey on November 3, this being however, a smaller number than anticipated by the authorities when making arrangements for the evacuation of Americans from the Far East.

Russian Policeman Kills Robber

Thrilling Chase Ends in Death of Notorious Man

Quick action on the part of a Russian auxiliary agent of the French Municipal Police caused the death of a notorious Chinese highwayman, in a passage of Boulevard de Montigny at about 8.30 a.m. yesterday, his name being given as King King-fou.

The shooting followed a hold-up staged by three Chinese in Boulevard de Montigny where they had held up a Chinese woman travelling in a rickshaw. The Russian agent saw them at the moment they were attempting to rob their victim of a gold ring. The Russian policeman, who was about 80 yards away, noticed that one of the robbers was covering the puller, another was pulling the ring off the victim's finger, while the third was ready to run with the loot.

When the robbers saw the Russian agent, they took to their heels, running into lane 287 in Boulevard de Montigny.

The policeman followed them into the lane where one of the highwaymen, seeing himself being overcome, opened fire on the run. The shots missed the policeman, who in his turn returned the fire and killed one of the men.

The killed robber, stated to have been 36 years of age, was well known to the French Police. His record showed that he was sent to prison eight times, six of them being for robbery.

His two accomplices managed to escape in the crowd that is always in evidence in Boulevard de Montigny.

Hongkew Parade Tomorrow

Japanese naval forces in the Shanghai area will celebrate the 2,600th anniversary of the founding of the Japanese Empire tomorrow with a parade through the streets of Hongkew and a naval review on the Whangpoo River, the "Tairiku Shimpo" reported yesterday morning.

The parade will be participated in by units of the Japanese Special Naval Landing Party, including mechanized detachments, while the review will be held under the supervision of Vice-Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, Commander-in-Chief of the Japanese China Seas Fleet, the paper said.

Bridgman School's Anniversary

Old Established Girls' Institution Observes Ninetieth Birthday

Upholding its hard-earned reputation of being the first girls' school established in Shanghai, the Bridgman Memorial School now being temporarily housed at 495 Gordon Road is celebrating its ninetieth anniversary. The formal celebration meeting was held yesterday morning in the Carlton Theatre with Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott of St. John's University and Dr. Yang Yung-ching, well known Chinese educator, as main speakers. An entertainment programme was carried out in the afternoon, while a refugee relief sale of articles made by students will be held today on the campus of the school.

After the performance of Christian rites, a report was made at the meeting by the principal of the institution, Wang Pei-tseng, followed by singing and speech-making. Besides the main speakers Miss E. M. Pollock of the Woman's Union Missionary Society which has mainly been responsible for the development of the school since it took over the school property (now still in Nantao) in 1871 also made a speech. All speakers eulogized the late Mrs. Eliza Jane Bridgman, wife of Dr. Elijah Coleman Bridgman who founded the school in 1850, and urged all those connected with the school to keep up the spirit of the late American woman educator.

Back to Taiping Rebellion

Representative of the courageous spirit of the American missionary workers in China, the late Mrs. Bridgman opened her first school for Chinese girls in Shanghai with inadequate means at her disposal at a time when the Taiping Rebellion was sweeping the country with all its savage patriotism. Amid destruction and confusion, she eventually overcame all difficulties. At the beginning, she had only 12 pupils, but her school now has 700 students of various grades from the senior middle school to lower primary school. Many graduates of the school are working in society or married to well-established men.

The hostilities rendered it impossible to continue lessons on the original premises of the school located near the West Gate in Nantao and so since the spread of hostilities to the native city the school has been run in a rented building in Gordon Road but the Nantao property is said to be intact. Purchase of 70 mow of land was made in 1932 and authorities of the school are looking forward for the time when the situation will allow them further to glorify its founder by providing a new site for their institution.

Barriers Put Up Again On N. Kiangse Road

Acts of Terrorism Given As Reason by Japanese

Barriers were again erected along North Kiangse Road yesterday afternoon by the Japanese Special Landing Party. On July 22 these barriers had been removed in view of the improvement in the state of peace and order out of the desire to make things more convenient for the people living in that area, according to the navy spokesman at yesterday's press conference here. He went on to state, however, that owing to repeated acts of terrorism it was found necessary to replace the barriers.

The barriers, which consist of a barbed wire entanglement, extend from Kiangse Road Bridge to Range Road.

Steamship services between Hongkong and Canton and between Canton and Macao will be resumed on November 9, Japanese reports from Canton said today.

Japanese reports from Canton also said that a new Sino-Japanese Kwangtung Provincial Bank, capitalized at $10,000 000, would be formally inaugurated in Canton today.

The new bank, Japanese reports said, "will provide material support for the economic rehabilitation of south China."—United Press.

Eleven Sikhs and A Dairy

Charge Brought By S.M.C. Health Department Is Dismissed By Court

Owing to insufficient evidence that defendants were selling milk, Mr. C. H. Haines, Registrar, in H. M. Police Court yesterday dismissed a charge brought by the Health Department of the Municipal Council against seven Indians of keeping a dairy without a licence at 61 Ningkuo Road from September 2, to October 9. Mr. P. Watkin Williams prosecuted for the Council, while all the following defendants were unrepresented: Ajab Singh, Beran Singh, Chenan Singh, Kechen Singh, Najor Singh, Fouja Singh and Polah Singh.

The charge against Polah Singh was dropped by the prosecution before the conclusion of the case and during the hearing. The defendants were alleged to have violated Bye-law 34 of the Land Regulations of the Council. As there was not enough accommodation for all the defendants in the dock, they were lined up in front of the seats reserved for the public.

At one stage in the proceedings some difficulty was experienced in eliciting from a defendant the number of cows in the dairy and the Sikh interpreter finally explained that the number was made up of "male" and "female" cows and calves.

The dairy it was stated, was owned by eleven Sikhs. Inspector G. V. Volchkoff of the Health Department described numerous visits which he made to the dairy which, he explained, was housed in a former Chinese dwelling, a wall of which had crumbled and which had been converted into a cow shed. Two hundred yards away he saw seven cows, a bull and three calves grazing. In reply to his enquiry, he said, one of the defendants told him that the dairy was owned by eleven Indians and the total daily milk production was 50 pounds. One of them, he said, also disclosed to him that the owners all took a little milk each day and disposed of the surplus to other Indians at forty cents a quart. Witness stated in reply to Mr. Haines that he obtained his information from defendants without giving them any warning or employing suggestions.

Japanese Evacuation Of Hongkong Denied

Hongkong, Nov. 8.

Reports that Japanese civilians are evacuating Hongkong were found baseless as official figures revealed that the Japanese population in the Crown Colony stood at 575 on November 5, with an increase of two male members since July, while 258 Japanese women and children were still remaining here.

Press despatches emanating from Washington on Wednesday said that the American authorities were closely watching the alleged evacuation of Japanese civilians from Hongkong as presaging new Japanese military moves in South China. The Japanese Consulate-General here officially denied that Japanese civilians were being ordered to leave the Crown Colony.

The number of Japanese residents in Hongkong in July stood at 691, including 315 men, 234 women and 142 children. While the present number is lower than that in July by 116, this decrease took place gradually and caused no confusion.—Domei.

Japanese Allege French Brutality to Natives

Befriending Japanese Said Cause of Alleged Measures

Hanoi, Nov. 8.

The Japanese military authorities in French Indo-China are watching with a great concern current indications that the French authorities are adopting harsh repressive measures against Annamites coming into contact with Japanese forces, it was stated here.

Among the cases recently brought to light was the arrest and imprisonment by the French authorities of an old Annamite woman, who begged a ride on an empty Japanese military truck, the statement continued.

It was reliably learned here, the report adds, that an entire village was burned down by the French officials after they ascertained that the natives there had provided the passing Japanese with boiled water.

Meanwhile, it was frequently reported that the French authorities confiscated and burned Annamite-Japanese conversation manuals found in the possession of the natives, while the Annamites who greeted Japanese soldiers in the street had been arrested, the report concluded.—Domei.

Chungking Comment on Lull in Two Wars

Chungking. Nov. 8.

Describing the present lull in the European and Far Eastern wars as a calm before the storm, the official "Central Daily News" states that future Far Eastern developments depend on where Japanese forces from China are being withdrawn to, while future European developments will be affected by the step to be taken by Turkey in the Balkans.

With President Roosevelt's re-election and the failure of German and Italian efforts to obtain support from France and Spain, it will be interesting to know what moves will be made by Germany and Italy, the daily states.

"Though she habitually moves behind others' skirts, the mask over Japan's face will be lifted once Germany and Italy make their next move," the paper concludes.—Reuter.

"Cluny" Stable Expected to Win Both Classics Today

Criterion and St. Leger Should Go to Cluniehouse And Cluniehill; Hindhead is Biggest Threat

By "The Chaser"

THERE has been nothing but talk about racing during the past week and this is quite easy to understand as this afternoon the first Autumn Race Meeting will be held and will continue on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and next Saturday. The big day is naturally the fourth day as the Autumn Champions is scheduled for that day. We should have some idea of the Champions this afternoon when the Chinese Sportmen's Cup and Criterion Stakes will be run and this traditional classic will be the feautre event of this afternoon's programme of nine flat races.

Another race of importance which is included in today's racing is the Shanghai St. Leger which is the fifth race. This race unfortunately has drawn a poor entry of six and of this number only four are expected to start. There are two other open races besides the Criterions and we may see two more qualifications of importance for Wednesday's classic.

The Chinese Sportmen's Cup and Criterion Stakes is the sixth race of the day and will be run at about 3.20 p.m. It could not be ascertained definitely which ponies will be starting in the race but at a late hour yesterday afternoon eight ponies were marked as probable starters. It would be silly if I should mention any other pony to win other than Cluniehouse, not that he it such a sure thing, but common sense, backed by recent outstanding performances, makes him the inevitable choice. Hindhead appears to be the most dangerous contender for this classic and I think we should see the indentical result of their last meeting; Cluniehouse first and Hindhead second. The remaining place may be closely contested by Democratic Prince, Rain, Merrylight and Busted Straight, and of these four I like Democratic Prince.

If nothing sensational and unexpected crops up there is every reason for Mr. "Cluny" to have a very successful day by making a clean sweep of the two classic events of the day. His grimn Cluniehill has already proven that he is head and shoulders above the rest of the grimns and consequently with only four ponies starting in the Shanghai St. Leger he should not experience much difficulty in winning the race. Other probable starters are Don Federcio, Don Ronco and Silver Fox.

The opening race of the day is a mile and a half affair for the two lowest classes. White Sale is not a very reliable pony to back but if he should give of his best he may win this race from Vigour and National City. The last named will not be very well fancied but is worth a small each-way bet, just in case. If Libertylight gets away well in the second race I do not think he will be beaten. Fleeting Bow should give him the best race with The Frigate filling the remaining berth.

The third race should see Don Blanco leading the field at the finish to win. Fairylight is extremely useful here and will attract good support in the pari-mutuels while Central Park likes the distance (one mile). Loch Maree is rapidly getting into form and should give the winner a close run. Nearly 20 ponies are expected to weigh out for the fourth race and out of this lot I do not think there is anything to touch Larne, who should win desolte his three-pound penalty. Hwa Kiang is a good 'un and should fill the places with Sir Richard.

Although Rye climaxed a splendid half-mile gallop with a 28 quarter during the week, I do not think he can win the seventh race at the weight of 164 pounds. White Night and Slow Motion should fight out the verdict and I think they will finish in the respective order. Rye, however, should not be out of the first three although there are other such well-known sprinters as Cherrylight, Honeymoon Gift and Frostylight.

Vim has been running better with each race and I think he has improved sufficiently now to win the eighth race, over eleven furlongs, he will probably meet Magic Circle here again and this time he should reverse the tables. For places I like Magic Circle and Northwood. The last race of the day is the Dolonor Stakes and I do not think I have to look further than Charming Beauty for the winner. Second Thoughts and Sandy should be among the first three.

Hopes for Dempsey Fight Fade

Little Chance of Roper Getting Bout with Jack Dempsey in Manila

Manila, Nov. 7.

Jack Roper, the "boxer nobody knew" until he acted as a one-round punching bag for Joe Louis last year, will probably be forced to return to the United States without having a crack at Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion.

Roper last night scored a technical knockout over Luis Logan, Spanish heavyweight, in the fourth round of a ten-round bout and won the heavyweight title of the Orient.

Jes Cortes, Filipino promoter who brought Dempsey to Manila last year to referee the "world middleweight title" bout between Ceferino Garcia, former holder of the crown, and Glen Lee, said that he planned to have Dempsey fight Roper here in December.

Reports from New York, however, said that Dempsey categorically denied that he would meet Roper or anybody else in Manila.

Climate and Lack of Purse

While it was known that Cortes had phoned Garcia's manager, George Parnassus, and asked him to contact Dempsey, boxing scribes pointed out that it was obvious that Dempsey would never attempt a comeback here because of the climate and lack of a purse.

If Dempsey chose to make a comeback he would certainly make it in the United States where he could draw a far greater crowd than in Manila and thus gain ten times the purse that could be offered here, the scribes emphasized.

Up to the dramatic fourth round last night, the Logan-Roper fight was marked by Logan's extreme cautiousness. The latter, who quit the ring several years ago, came out of retirement recently and trained hard for last night's bout. He was floored thrice in the fourth round before the fight was halted.

First Three Rounds Tame

The husky Spaniard, who in his prime knocked over the leading light-heavyweights in Europe, crawfished continuously and missed chances of landing with his powerful left because he was too busy backing away from the American, who was knocked out in the first round by Louis. There was not a single damaging blow exchanged in the first three rounds.

In the fourth, Roper dashed out from his corner and immediately went to work on Logan's mid-section, flooring the Spaniard who rose on the count of two. Logan attempted to slug it out on rising, but Roper landed a short, jolting right to the solar plexus and Logan again went down for two. A left and a right to the mid-section as he rose proved too much for Logan who crashed to the canvas for the third time, causing Referee Paquito Villa to halt the fight and give the nod to Roper.—United Press.

Soccer Sidelights

Just as it was believed by the "North-China Daily News" on November 4, the P. T. H. have protested the referee's disputed decision in their game against the Tung Hwa on Sunday morning, when the arbiter first pointed to the centre, after a goal had been scored by Harold England, and changed his mind when the Chinese linesman protested. Several S.F.A. officials, in addition to many well-known soccer players, witnessed the game, and all agree that the goal was scored from an offside position..

Stangaard, of the Police eleven, has been dropped from their first team, at least for this week-end's game when the lawkeepers meet the A.S.F. in what should be their fourth straight victory this season. The Police forward line will be the strongest yet, including Chooklantzeff, Fonseca, Willie Ward, Sammy Greenberg and Bader....One of the keenest contested matches will be seen this Sunday when the P.T.H. meets S.F.X. at the Race Course. Long rivals for the honours among the local schools, the two teams should put up a thrilling exhibition, the P.T.H. out to avenge their last year's defeat at the hands of the Saints, while the latter will be out to prove that they are better footballers.....

Notwithstanding the departure of army teams from Shanghai, England should be able to put out one of the strongest teams in the International Cup Competions. To begin with, Police have six British players: Bulpin, Willie Ward. Woodley, Gibson, Duffy and Bader. P.T.H. can contribute Logan, Kidby, Harold England and Cochran. Jimmy Ward, Smith and McFarlane are with the A.S.F. The Shanghai Recreation Club boast of Madar, Honniball, Jack, Symons and Wailey, while the S.F.X. have Garwood, and the Edwards brothers. This makes it an imposing team of twenty-one players and a most powerful eleven can be put on the field. This Department's choice is Willie Ward, Logan and Madar, Honniball, Symons and Jack, F. Edwards, Kidby. H. England, Cochran and Jimmy Ward. "Paddy" Duffy is left out, not because he does not fit into the team, but because he is due to leave this city in January.....

The S.R.C. line-up for their Saturday's game includes one of the best backs of the city of a few years ago. Shute is the name (many will remember his sterling play on the Shanghai Interport teams) and it is a mystery how he was left out of the Police team. Shute, although he has passed the thirty-year mark, should still be an ace defender after a few games... Incidentally, the Recs' team for this game will be weakened by the absence of several players, their places beieng taken by Hart-Baker, Lee and Zellensky. Notwithstanding this, it is still thought that they will be able to take J.R.C's measure.....

The charity game on Tuesday afternoon should see a record crowd at the Canidrome where the game will be played. Tung Hwa, who have yet to suffer a defeat, will meet their strongest test against the reinforced S.R.C. team. In addition to several players from the P.T.H. team, it is known that others from the S.F.X. and Lusitano will also help Recs to down the Chinese eleven.....The Tung Hwa—Lusitano game is attracting attention as the outcome of this match may show football fans how Portugal and China will fare if they meet in the International Cup series, although other international teams may have something to say about it. Both Portugal and China will depend on the above team to supply their needs, China, it was learned, being represented by the complete Tung Hwa outfit. Portugal, on the other hand, have four players from other teams, namely: Victal, Roliz and Fonseca from Police; and Aldeguer from the S.R.C. .....

Earl Carroll, who makes his screen debut in Paramount's "A Night at Earl Carroll's," estimates that he has spent more than $8,000,000 on girl shows which he has produced during the last 30 years.

Week-End Soccer Commentary

Old School Rivalry to Be Resumed Tomorrow When P.T.H., S.F.X. Meet at Race Course

ANOTHER interesting week-end soccer programme is being presented today and tomorrow, when all the First Division teams will meet in what should prove to be close games, so close in fact that predictions, with the exception of the A.S.F.-S.M.P. game, appear impossible. In addition to the senior games, ten junior games will be played the most interesting being the encounter of the French Forces and Three Cultures which, though the season is yet young and much can happen in future, seem to be the logical contenders for the Second Division title.

In the first senior game this afternoon, the A.S.F. are given another chance to show that they are far from being through. They meet the S.M.P. at 2.30 p.m. at the Canidrome, and the "Foreign Legion" will field a reshuffled eleven in addition to a new man, Tai, who is said to possess some knowledge of the better side of the game. Jimmy Ward will appear as inside left, while Bossuet will play in the centre-forward position, Roboostoff being in hospital following the injury received in the A.S.F.-J.R.C. game last Saturday. The Police, meanwhile will have their strongest team out, with Willie Ward playing as centre-forward, and Stangaard being dropped from the line-up.

The second game of the afternoon will see the Recs, slightly weakened by the absence of Bulldeath, against the Jewish Recs at the S.R.C. ground at 3 p.m. This game looks like anybody's game, although the Recs should leave with a win, their defence being strengthened by the inclusion of Jack Shute, veteran Police and Interport player. The J.R.C. has announced a fairly strong team for this game and is out to prove that victony over the A.S.F. last Saturday was well deserved.

Two Games Tomorrow

Two games, which should prove to be the most thrilling so far, will be played tomorrow, the first being at the Canidrome where Tung Hwa will meet Lusitano at 10.30 a.m., while the P.T.H. and the S.F.X. will meet at Race Course in the afternoon

Although given a slight edge over the Lusitano, the Tung Hwa may experience a surprise at the hands of the Portuguese, who are known to play good soccer against strong teams. The Chinese will field the same team as last week, with the exception that N.Z. Lee will be seen in the pivot position, while H. L. Han will be moved to the inside right position. The Portuguese will be out with the line-up that gave J.R.C. a beating two weeks ago, the only weakness being Barradas, a young player who should improve within the next few weeks.

The last senior game of the week will be an encounter between the P.T.H. and the S.F.X. Both teams lost narrowly to the Tung Hwa eleven and a battle royal is expected when they meet at the Race Course tomorrow afternoon. The Saints will be fielding a new youngster, Willie Pettersson's younger brother, and it is said that he is almost as good as Willie—which is a recommendation in itself. Borodin, meanwhile, will not be seen any more this or any other season, according to reports. S. Schultz will return, but this will not be for another two months. The P.T.H. will field the team played last week and will be there to avenge last year's defeat sustained at the hands of the S.F.X.

Besides the French Forces-Three Cultures contest on Sunday, another good Second Division game will be played this afternoon when 4th "A" meets Unison Football Club at the Kiaochow Park.

The Teams

The following will appear for their teams in this week-end's games:—

Tung Hwa:—P. K. Zing, E. Chong, N. Lee, S. M. Tsha, N. Z. Lee, S. T. Liang, Y. L. Chia, L. H. Han, L. K. Tai, K. H. Huang, T. Van.

Foreign Y to Hold Senior Basketball

Rumours Set at Rest by Announcement; Leading Teams Will Enter

Conflicting rumours about the Foreign Y.M.C.A. Invitation Basketball League were set at rest yesterday when Len Bright, Physical Director of the "Y," announced that the competition starts on December 9.

The "B" Division of the League has been dropped, however, and play will proceed in the confines of the "A" Division only.

The fact that there will be only one division indicates, meanwhile, that a limited number of teams is going to enter the contest, and that entries will come only from the leading squads of the city. This should make the League extremely interesting this year.

Two Foreign "Y" representations, the Cubs and the Giants, will take part in league play. The Giants, who won the "B" Division of the League last year without suffering a single defeat, have shown considerable improvement, and will doubtless make their grade in the senior tournament.

The Paramount team, leading Chinese quintette in the city and winner of last year's League, is expected to field a side. The squad has started practice early in September and is currently in perfect form for the basketball wars.

The Union Development squad, meanwhile, another Chinese team of repute, will not field a team. The U. D. quitted the league in the middle of the season last year, it may be recalled, after one of the players had struck the referee and was permanently banished.

Among the other Chinese teams likely to enter the contest are the Kwang Shih quintette and Union. Both are efficient fives, able to carry play to the opposition.

The Marines will probably enter three teams. Two of these will have personell drawn from the ranks and one will be composed of Marine Officers.

Share Values:
Advice to Stock Exchange

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—In my humble opinion, the fluctuations of prices of the shares on the Shanghai Stock Exchange have been unnecessarily too wide. For instance, Wheelocks were quoted at $272 (old) in April when the highest level was reached, fell to $38 in July, advanced to $94 in September, declined to $61.50 in October and are now changing hands at around $94. Judging from the earning capacity, which is estimated at $50 per share for the current year, the present price is still unjustly low. The highest price for Shanghai Securities during the past half-year was $8.50 and the lowest $3, while its statistical value is believed to be well over $8.50 according to reliable source, although the shares are done at about $5.20 at present.

The political situation, the war news and the exchange value of the Chinese national dollar may all influence the market, but I believe the main factor that has caused the ups and downs of the local stock prices is the ignorance on the part of the investing public of the actual value of the shares they are holding or intend to hold. Hence they always hesitate to buy and become nervous and rush to sell at whatever prices on hearing any news that may prove to be groundless rumours.

It is for the benefit of those bona fide investors and not the speculators that I have recently made the following suggestions to the chairman of the Shanghai Stock Exchange:

(1) Through the effort of the Exchange, to arrange with the managements of the various industries and plantations, whose stocks are listed on this exchange, to announce periodically their earning capacities—such as a quarterly report system that is now in practice in New York.

(2) Through the effort of the Exchange, to acquire at the end of every week, the statistical values of all holding companies, whose stocks are listed on this exchange—for instance, I. T. Trust and Yangtsze Finance are doing so, while Shanghai Land and Shanghai Securities are not yet.

(3) For the publication of these substantial materials as mentioned above in an official way, this Stock Exchange shall issue a weekly bulletin, in which there must be some sections reserved for other valuable information and statistics in regard to the stocks.

I trust the adopting and materializing of the above plan will serve as a "lighthouse for the Shanghai investment public and will consequently narrow the fluctuations of the stock prices."

U.S. Election:
The Money Hitler Wasted

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—As thoroughly as we of the Republican party disapprove of much of President Roosevelt's domestic policy, one is glad to see him in for a third term as it would have been madness to change drivers on the dangerous road along which we, as well as the rest of the world, are at present travelling.

This election just past has shown the futility of foreign nations attempting to influence the vote—also that the majority of Americans of German descent are Americans and not mongrel Nazis and that they have about as much use for Hitler as have the other decent people in the world. Adolf must regret the good money wasted on them. The average American, whatever stock he springs from, hardly takes kindly to foreign advice on domestic affairs. One is pleased to learn that Berlin "reacts coolly" to our election results. Does it not remind one of beginning Latin and "The grapes, moreover, are sour?"

Isolationists Defeated

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—With the re-election of President Roosevelt to the third term a general clearing up of the present tangled situation in the Far East is momentarily expected. His re-election means one great thing, that is, the utter defeat of the isolationists in America. Those isolationists are really a group of egoists who maintained that America should mind her own business and that American lives are just too precious to be sacrificed for the salvation of peoples other than her own.

But, if these isolationists are Christians at all, they should not forget that even the Son of God had to sacrifice His life in order that we human beings could be saved. More recent is the example of the American Civil War which was fought so that the negroes could be freed. We all should remember that no life is too dear if given up for the sake of justice and freedom.

Chopin:
Reader and Critic Differ

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—I have read with interest your critic G.H.'s remarks in your issue of November 5. I consider, however, that even if he looks upon Chopin as "a shallow man and unfortunately a shallow musician"—an opinion to which he is obviously entitled—he might have, in justice to the composer, amplified his remark by saying that Chopin was a lyrical composer par excellence. Inspite of its strongly pronounced national type, his music is always expressive of his feelings and sufferings to a degree rarely met with in the annals of music. Such high-strung passion cannot be prolonged, and we see, therefore, that it is in his shorter compositions, such as études, nocturnes and national Polish dances that he excels. The more extended dimensions of concerto, etc., always seem to encumber the freedom of his movements. It would, hence, be very unwise to judge Chopin by his concertos alone, and it would indeed be a pity if some of the younger people in Shanghai allowed themselves to be influenced in their judgment of Chopin by the learned critic's harsh judgment.

I have an idea, however, that there were many more beside myself in the audience who enjoyed "the exquisite gyrations and tinkling virtuosity," and on return from the concert drew on the vast number of the composer's greater works in smaller forms. These, in my opinion, are treasures every bit as valuable as Beethoven's symphonies to a discerning lover of music of more catholic tastes than your critic. If he would study a little more carefully some of the composer's later works he will furthermore discover for himself that Chopin did not to the end remain unable to write polyphonic music giving food to the mind as well as to the ears.

I am also of the opinion that, whatever his personal opinion, the critic should not have omitted entirely the mention of a very musicianly and learned arrangement of Monteverdi's madrigals by Respighi played at the same concert, or is our critic just a three "B" fan? If so, it is indeed a great pity.

To finish this letter in a lighter vein I shall recount an amusing story. At a social and musical gathering of Bülow's friends one of the great pianist's friends—a lady—requested him for a few lines for her album. "Say, for instance," said she "who are your favourite composers?" Bülow took the album and scribbled in it the legend: "Bach, Beethoven, Brahms"—les autres sont les crétins." The Polish pianist, Moszkowski was present at the gathering and after reading Bülow's remark requested permission also to express his opinion on the subject. Permission was of course granted by the lady, and these were the mords Moszkowski wrote: Meyerbeer, Mendelssohn, Moszkowski —les autres sont les chrétiens."

Humped Shoulders:
More Calisthenics Wanted

To the Editor of the
"NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"

SIR,—When I was a boy my mother snapped out this axiom every time she saw me slumped over my lessons: "A straight back is generally an indication of a straight mind." Judge for yourself by observing clerks students and civil servants slouched over their work.

Is it not high time some "punch" is put into the calisthenics one sees hereabout? It's discouraging to see the limp forms of firemen, policemen and students at their half-hearted daily exercises (so called).

It was with some ray of hope I read of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's exhortation to the civilian population on the last Double Tenth that they indulge in rigorous physical exercise every day, perform manual labour and harden the muscles toward a sturdier nation. He has always been an ardent admirer of foreign-style physical training and boxing as a "conditioner."

Shanghai seems not to go in for the amateur variety in the big way I've seen in the other large cities of the world. Some years back there was talk of the formation of an Amateur Boxing Club (international) What happened to a plan so worthy and so needed? It's still not too late for that straight back and that straight mind.

Seventy Years Ago

FROM THE "NORTH-CHINA DAILY NEWS"
OF NOVEMBER 9, 1870

Mr. L. Soullier gave a very successful performance at his circus last night, on the occasion of the benefit of M. Henri Gautier. Some clever horsemanship on barebacked steeds was shown by the bénéficiaire, whose exertions appeared to be appreciated by his patrons; and the director's trained horses and ponies went through interesting manoeuvres. The trapeze feats were, as usual, wonderful in the agility and daring exibited. The American clown has improved greatly since his first appearance in the ring, and the French clowns have capital funds of humour and pantomine. We were glad to see a good house, and to observe that nothing passed without a full meed of well-deserved applause.

IMPARTIAL NOT NEUTRAL

SHANGHAI'S EFFORT

On November 15 the monthly lists for the Voluntary War Contribution Fund will be closed again,—though the next acknowledgment of contributions will be published tomorrow,—and it is to be hoped that the sum of £10,000 will again be forthcoming to send home to Lord Beaverbrook. There appears to be a belief held by some that Britons in Shanghai are not doing as well as they ought. That is not a view which is held by this journal for reasons which follow. Enquiry shows that in Hongkong HK $600,000 has been subscribed to the British War Organization Fund. The "South China Morning Post" and "Hongkong Telegraph" Bomber Fund has realized HK$1,500,000 to date, but no information is available as to what has been put into war savings as there is no special organization as there is in Shanghai. Comparable with those two funds in Shanghai are the British Central War Fund which has raised roughly CN$3,000,000 and the Voluntary War Contribution Fund the total of which is in the neighbourhood of CN $5,000,000. That represents a total of CN $8,000,000 as compared with HK$2,100,000 subscribed voluntarily by the Colony. In both places the majority of subscribers draw their salaries in local dollars so that it can safely be said that what Shanghai Britons have been doing compares very favourably with what their fellow nationals have been doing in Hongkong. The comparison can of course be only between the figures set forth above, but when what Shanghai has put into the War Savings Association is also taken into consideration a figure of approximately $10,000,000 has been forthcoming to assist in the prosecution of this war.

It is stated that the total number of Britons in Shanghai is somewhere in the neighbourhood of 10,500, of which some 5,000 are men; to that number must be added the unknown total of women who are wage earning. The total number of contributors to the Voluntary War Contribution Fund when the last results were published was 3,444, those giving to the British Central War Fund not being ascertainable. Some people give to both funds, others to one only but it seems safe to estimate that somewhere in the neighbourhood of 4,500 Britons are contributing to one fund or the other, or perhaps both, while there are doubtless others, unable to give to either, who support the War Savings Association to which there are 880 contributors.

It is apparent then that there are comparatively few British wage earners who are not doing their share in one way or another. To the question of whether this is satisfactory, or not the answer is that it is very satisfactory, but not wholly so. It will not be until the figures show that all possible contributors are supporting one or other of the three organizations, and it is towards the perfection of unanimous contribution that every effort must be bent. What is wanted is that every loyal Briton should be doing his bit, and giving or saving just as much as he possibly can, and this includes the women as well. The man, who can only spare $5 a month, and refrains from sending it in because it is so small, is not doing his duty; he who contributes $100 where he could send in $125 fails to recognize his responsibility as a British subject, and the same applies to all who are not subscribing up to the limit of their resources. But Britons in Shanghai who are the backbone of the two funds and the association—though Britons elsewhere in China have contributed handsomely,—have responded splendidly to the Ambassador's appeal by giving more than he originally asked for, and doubling what he suggested should be the monthly contribution. Were China blessed with the exchange which prevailed until the dollar commenced to slip Shanghai would have sent forward over £500,000. Despite the lowness of exchange £150,000 will very shortly be reached, a very creditable total indeed. Nothing succeeds like success and everyone likes to be in on one. There is still plenty of time for those who have not yet sent in their monthly subscriptions to get in before November 15, after which date the committee in charge hope to increase the smile on Lord Beaverbrook's "dial," as one writer to the "Evening Standard" called it, by sending him another £10,000. The good work must go on, for the more Lord Beaverbrook is made to smile, the less the enemy likes it.

EIRE'S NEUTRALITY

Mr. Winston Churchill's reference to the lack of port facilities in southern and western Ireland, which would greatly assist Britain in dealing with the U-boat menace, has aroused all the discussion it was expected it would. As the Prime Minister has said the fact that these were denied the British Navy had placed a very heavy burden upon British shoulders, which however were broad enough to bear it. Lord Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland, deplores the attitude of Eire, pointing out that its Government while willing to accept concession after concession from Great Britain intended to give nothing in return. Mr. de Valera for his part insists that there can be no question of permitting ports in Eire to be used as refuelling or supply bases for British ships. Mr. de Valera bases his insistence upon the strictest neutrality apparently on the belief that, should Germany win the war, he would still be able to maintain the territorial integrity and independence of his country,—a small oasis in the "new Order" which Hitler is bent on creating in Europe.

If Mr. de Valera does indeed believe that he would be able to keep Eire out of Hitler's insatiable maw, he is showing a credulity which is positively amazing in view of all that has happened in Europe. While nothing has been made public, there is even the possibility that Mr. de Valera has received German assurances to that effect, but so many men have received German promises only to see them broken that Mr. de Valera must surely be imagining vain things if he thinks he would be likely to be an exception in the unlikely event of Germany securing victory. The fact of the matter is that Eire sinks, or swims with the United Kingdom, and its independence will exist just so long as Britain can continue to guarantee it, and no longer. For it must be remembered that Eire is amongst the weakest of the weak nations of Europe, quite unable successfully to defend herself against any who might have designs upon her.

The different views expressed by Lord Craigavon and Mr. De Valera clearly indicate how far apart the two divisions of Ireland really are. The latter has sought since the outbreak of the war to continue his endeavours to secure a united Ireland, or, if not that, to persuade Northern Ireland to declare its neutrality. In that he has lamentably failed for the people of Northern Ireland remain loyal to the Union, whereas Eire has left it, and sought to establish an independence which no matter how true it may be politically, economically does not exist. It is for this vague similitude of independence that Mr. de Valera clings so fanatically to his declaration of neutrality, though doubtless he will be only too ready to seek to share in the benefits which a British victory will undoubtedly bring to Europe as a whole. He will contribute nothing to the common cause though he must know as well as anyone that, should that cause fail, Eire will go down too. As he realizes full well that it will not, he chooses to sit quietly by and take anything that may be coming his way.

It is not to be believed that Britain will fail to deal with the U-boat menace in the future as well as she has in the past, despite the fact that patrols have to make longer trips between their stations and their supply bases than would have been the case if they could have operated out of Irish ports as they did during the last war. Eire's refusal to assist Britain has an undoubtedly imposing nuisance value as creating considerable inconvenience, but it does not amount to an obstacle which cannot be surmounted. Mr. de Valera has denied that the enemy are being supplied with fuel and provisions from ports in Eire. The cables do not say who made the original allegation, but it is to be hoped that what he says is true, though there is always the possibility that some irreconcilables may be assisting the enemy clandestinely, inspired by the feeling that anything calculated to harm British interests is justified even though the principal issues between the two countries have long been adjusted peaceably.

For Mutual Defence

The reports from London that a defence agreement had been reached between Great Britain, the United States, and Australia in the Pacific had not been confirmed at the time of writing, but nevertheless seemed likely to be true. Conversations have been going on for some time between the British Embassy in Washington, the State Department, and the Australian Minister to the U.S. which are believed to have been principally concerned with collaboration between the three countries in the event of further aggression in this part of the world. The great preoccupation of the American Administration has been to avoid further commitments abroad, while at the same time preserving its interests. The importance of these interests do not need to be re-emphasized; they concern untold millions of dollars and the safety and livelihood of thousands of American citizens. There is, therefore, nothing illogical in giving credence to the reports that an arrangement for mutual assistance in certain eventualities has been agreed upon. And there is equally no reason for any other nation to object to such an arrangement, provided that nation's intentions do not include deliberate robbery, and aggression. Outside the limits which have been imposed upon the world by Nazi and Fascist economy, which include the construction of financial blocs, it is to the interest of no Power not at present at war to obstruct the economic expansion of any one else. If the Japanese find trading with the Netherlands East Indies difficult, they have only Herr Hitler to thank. It is, therefore, puzzling to know why Tokyo newspapers have recently been "warning" the Netherlands East Indies against adopting an "arrogant attitude." As the British nation will be the first to admit, the Netherlanders have the right to be "arrogant" when they are at war. Was it not Van Tromp who tied a broom to his masthead with which to sweep the British off the seas? The "Nichi Nichi" is, therefore, probably sadly underestimating the spirit of the Netherlands East Indies themselves when they attribute the reluctance they are showing to accept the Japanese trade mission's proposals solely to Anglo-American pressure. There have also been signs in the Japanese press that "insincerity" has been discerned among the authorities of southern French Indo-China. In short, if straws show which way the wind is blowing, in this instance they would seem to indicate some fresh form of encroachment. The conclusion of an agreement for joint defence, even though it may be of a purely tentative nature, is thus something the Tokyo government cannot afford to ignore.

ALONG THE HIGHWAYS

Nov. 7.—When we noticed the name of a house on Hungjao Road yesterday, we were reminded of the Garden of Eden. We entered the gates to admire the wide borders of chrysanthemums along the west side of the drive and thought that perhaps someone would come along with a Tabernæmontana alternifolia fruit; if that was really the fruit offered to our first parent: however we were doomed to disappointment; we did not even see the snake! There was a cast-off skin in the shrubbery nearby, but that was as near as we got to the real article. The spirit of the tempter may have been there for we were tempted to proceed further and we did not require much persuasion. As we strolled over a bridge, we saw masses of red cannas in flower and evergreen trees too numerous to mention. On our right was a very expansive lawn sloping down to a large pond; while on the left, in the distance, was a smaller pool nestling snugly at the foot of a high mound planted with many types of tree and shrubs. There was a series of flower beds, designed to form a monogram and planted with petunias still in bloom on the north side of the drive as it turned towards the house. A mass of chrysanthemums in front of the house attracted our attention and as we proceeded towards these beds, we noticed a bed of the perennial Verbena (Verbena Venosa), this bed looked very charming tucked away in the shelter of a laurel hedge. Between this and a bed of Ageratum was a bed of lovely white chrysanthemums: the semi-double flowers were large and most attractive. On the banks of the "valley" leading down to the pond were mixed beds of the same plants and it was in one of these beds, that we found a variety worthy of more general cultivation. Its flowers have more petals than the usual semi-doubles and they are a charming shade of shell-pink: for vase decoration, they must be superb: they are about five inches in diameter, a little smaller than the white referred to previously, but no less attractive. Cockscombs are not favourite flowers of ours; but we saw a bed of an orange-red variety that we liked very much: it looked most effective in the distance. This colour is not common in the garden and it is most useful for colour schemes. We saw many chrysanthemums growing in pots, most of the flowers stems being tied to cupola-shaped frames which showed the flowers to the best advantage. "Purple Wei-fong" appeared to be the favourite variety: sixty blooms being counted on many of the plants while ninety-five flowers were noticed on a pot of one of the other varieties grown. There were also some very good single-flowered varieties grown in cascade form: a deep crimson variety being, in our opinion, the best of the lot, although we saw plants seven feet "long" and two feet across at the top. The garden is a very extensive one and as we were admiring the various sections, we thought that, after all, Eve had offered us something much nicer than the forbidden fruit.—W.J.K.

A PARSON'S LOG

From A Correspondent

Our Prime Minister has charmed all British hearts by his clarion call to "Give all, to dare all and to endure all." There has been nothing feeble in his challenge to the empire; he has not spoken unto us "smooth things," on the contrary he has demanded sacrifice, courage, endurance. Again and again he has brought to our minds the sonorous, thrilling voice of Garibaldi: "I am going out from Rome . . . I offer neither pay, nor quarters, nor provisions, I offer hunger, thirst, forced marches, battles and death. Let him who loves his country in his heart and not with his lips only, follow me." Churchill has not been disappointed, he has summoned the heroic and to this, whether it be in politics or in religion, mortal man always responds.

The New Testament has a great deal to say about sacrifice, courage and endurance; it is of this latter that I wish to write today. It is the fortitude in the Son of Man that has commanded men's respect and allegiance. Our Lord's was a toilsome life—wearying journeys, rising "a great while before day," "nowhere to lay His head." Day to Jesus meant work. The Father's work was both a daily necessity and His very "meat." "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me, and to finish His work." Under such pressure did He labour that there was often no leisure to eat. Night did not mean sleep, but was given largely to prayer, till His exhausted nature, finding opportunity for repose, could sleep undisturbed even by a storm. "And He was in the hinder part of the ship, asleep on a pillow: and they awake Him, and say unto Him, Master, carest thou not that we perish?" More than once His disciples (accustomed by their trade as fishermen to night-watches) proved unequal to the strain of wakefulness. His friends, fearing a mental breakdown, came to restrain Him by force. And in the end, tired, disappointed, broken-hearted, He "laid down His life for the sheep."

"The servant is not greater than his lord"; Christ warned His disciples in all ages to expect trials comparable in some measure to His own. Though Christ's yoke is easy and His burden light the disciple must deny himself and take up his cross, and it is emphasized that endurance is the continual test of genuineness. In the parable of the sower Jesus taught that the seed that fell on the good ground represented those who in an honest and good heart, having heard the Word, keep it, and bring forth fruit. He laid emphasis upon deeds, not sham professions. And endurance is an indispensable requisite for final salvation; "He will be saved who holds out to the very end." The period of trial is to be long and tedious. We are to meet difficulty, pain and evil, with a cheerful readiness, and we are not to be dismayed or wearied out by them. Our true life will be won by enduring.

She was 81, but she could be seen any day in Old Leather Lane at Wapping. Harriet Louisa Cartwright lived for forty years among the mean streets of London's dockland. She was a well-to-do woman among poor neighbours, but she dwelled among them because they were her people. Her family was in Northamptonshire, a family of clever and distinguished people in literary and diplomatic circles, but she found her talent in giving and doing.

It was in 1890, when many people in society had become interested in the East End owing to Charles Booth's volumes on London labour and the London poor, that she went to Wapping; but when others left the neighbourhood she stayed. Wapping was then one of the darkest spots in slumdom. She took rooms in a tenement house overrun with poor people and their children. It was not a pleasant house, but in her rooms she lit a lamp of kindliness which she kept alight for forty years.

She never ceased to tend the lamp, and she endured to the end. Her brother, Sir Chauncey Cartwright, urged her to leave grimy Wapping, but she only smiled.

She died in her top rooms (in 1931). Everyone came to know her, and the vicar spoke the finest epitaph to her memory in saying there was hardly one in the wide area about Old Leather Lane who had not been helped by her. Wapping made her a borough councillor and a guardian of the poor. She led a temperance movement, she fought for better houses, better education, games, and music,—she gave all, she dared all, she endured all,—and she left Wapping a better place, a far better place, than she found it.

Washington Sees Continued Firm Policy on Aggression

Suma's Suggestion for Revision of Attitude Towards Japanese Given Cool Reception

Washington, Nov. 7.

It is regarded here as significant that the reelection to the presidency of Mr. Roosevelt was received with satisfaction everywhere except in the three Axis states. This is taken to indicate that the Axis members recognize that no sympathy for aggression can be expected from this hemisphere.

Of course no such sympathy need have been expected had the result of the election been different, but there is reason to believe that had Mr. Wendell Willkie, the Republican candidate, been successful, the "lame-duck" period between now and January might have been used by the Axis states, both in Europe and Asia, to further their designs. The reelection of Mr. Roosevelt assures continuity of the firmness which American policy has been displaying in recent months.

It appears practically certain that Mr. Cordell Hull, State Secretary, will continue in office, and his views on aggression and "new orders" in Asia and Europe have been adequately and trenchantly expressed by him during the election campaign. No one here, whatever his party, seems to agree with Mr. Yakichiro Suma, the Japanese Foreign Office spokesman, that American policy to Japan needs to be revized—at least, not in the direction the Tokyo spokesman meant, though it will probably be revized in another direction if new aggressive action is undertaken by Japan.

Mr. Suma complains that American policy has not been friendly towards Japan. Observers here ask when has Japanese policy been friendly to American interests, since the use of force to further national policy started in 1931.

The Japanese retreat from South China is still being closely watched and its inner significance sought. While some American writers declare their belief that the troops are being withdrawn for an attack on the Netherlands East Indies, calmer elements believe that Japan is in no shape to undertake such a large-scale adventure and think that having bitten off more of China than she can chew, Japan is now disgorging some of it in an effort to release her army in China from the indigestion it is suffering.—Reuter.

French Comments

Clermont-Ferrand, Nov. 7.

Faced with the present unsettled situation in the world, the American people preferred not to risk a general reshuffle of its Administration, M. Charles Maurras, prominent Royalist leader, said in the "Action Francaise" today in an article on President Roosevelt's reelection for a third term.

The President's powers are now tremendous, the writer added, the people of the United States having voiced confidence in him a third time, thus constituting precedent in the entire history of the country.

Stressing the stability and scope of the President's powers, M. Maurras compared them with the absolute powers of a monarch, and asserted that the sole difference lay in the latter's life-time duration and hereditary transmission.—Havas.

Exploitation Charged

Rome, Nov. 8.

While the Italian press yesterday paid but scant attention to news of President Roosevelt's reelection, most comments declared that Mr. Roosevelt undoubtedly made efforts to exploit the war situation to champion the Democratic cause against the totaliterian states.

Meanwhile, Mr. Virginio Gayda, veteran political critic, writing in the "Giornale d'Italia" under the heading "Anglo-Saxons and the War," declared: "No one can distinguish the exact line of demarcation between real intervention and the present so-called benevolent neutrality."

Mr. Gayda, commenting on British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's latest speech in the House of Commons, and the results of the United States elections, asserted:

"First, the guarantee given to Greece by Great Britain has not been fulfilled, as has been admitted by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

"Fatal Blunder"

"Secondly, Greece has made a fatal blunder to come into the war, ignoring Italian advices made so often.

"Thirdly, the Prime Minister of Britain has confessed the uncertainty of the defence of Egypt and has admitted that unfavourable conditions will arise with the division of British forces between the homeland and the Mediterranean.

"Fourth, on the other hand, Mr. Roosevelt has been reelected President of the United States and has reiterated assurances that he will keep the United States out of war, but his policy shows hostility toward the Axis Powers and Japan and takes sides with the British."—Domei.

Huge Bridge in U.S. Collapses

"Galloping Gertie" Falls Into River

Tacoma, Washington, Nov. 7.

The huge six-million dollar suspension bridge over the Tacoma Narrows, the third longest bridge in the world, suddenly cracked today and crashed in sections 190 feet into the river.

Recently named "Galloping Gertie" owing to its swaying motion, the bridge was opened only last July.

The bridge has always been affected by high wind and began swaying from side to side today.

A journalist, who was the only person on the bridge at the time of the collapse, felt it going. He leapt out of his car and crawled 500 feet to safety as the bridge disintegrated, its huge cables waving wildly in the air.—Reuter.

New York, Nov. 8.

Mr. Walter Black, president of the publishing house bearing his name, announced last night a ten per cent. pay increase for fifty employees "because President Roosevelt was reelected."

"I am doing this as an example," Mr. Black said. "My business has been better in the last few years than it ever was before."—United Press.

President Faces Crucial Period

Lead in Voting Increased As New Deal Enters Into Critical Four Years

Washington, Nov. 8.

President Roosevelt yesterday led the nation into four years in which war and peace, prosperity and depression will be in the balance.

The President's popular vote at 3 p.m. yesterday (4 a.m. today, Shanghai Time) mounted to 25,940,461 as compared with 21,472,640 for his Republican rival, Mr. Wendell Willkie. The President was holding 38 states with 449 electoral votes while Mr. Willkie had ten states with 82 electoral votes.

As the President prepared to carry on the New Deal for another four years, the nation's U.S.$15,000,000,000 rearmament programme was stoking the furnaces of industry to make the United States the supply depot of Democracies which in all parts of the world resist aggression.

All Possible Aid Pledged

On the pledge to lend all possible material aid to nations who resist aggression, the United States hazards the issue of war or peace. That pledge, however, has been underwritten this week by the smashing endorsement given President Roosevelt by the American voters. President Roosevelt is chief of state today as no American President has ever been before.

Political observers believed there would be few vital changes in New Deal policies. The President's few words since his re-election indicated that the country would get "more of the same" policies enforced for the past eight years.

However, the tempo of American aid to Britain and the disapproval of Japan's actions in the Pacific appear certain to increase.

U.S. Loans Probable

The matter of American loans to Britain, and legislation clearing the way for such loans, appears to be just around the corner.

Noteworthy today is the fact that some military observers here are soberly reporting that it will be necessary for the United States to extend naval and air aid to Britain if the Totalitarian Powers are to be defeated.

The tempo of American participation in events in Europe and the Far East is expected to speed up immediately, as the nation turned from a week's preoccupation with domestic politics to find the world still aflame. —United Press.

Safe Conduct For U.S. Ship Refused

Germans Say Areas Around Britain are Military

Washington, Nov. 8.

Germany has refused a safe conduct for an American ship to proceed to Ireland to bring back United States citizens, although Italy has granted a safe conduct, it is announced by the State Department.

Germany is said to have declared that areas around England were "areas of military operations," and that "Berlin is not in a position to furnish any sort of assurance of the nature requested."

The Italian Government's prompt favourable reply was communicated to Germany, but Berlin declined to act likewise, the State Department reveals.

The United States had contemplated sending a liner, possibly the Manhattan, to a west Ireland port to evacuate about 1,200 Americans from Britain.

The immediate reaction by officials here was that Germany's answer will probably intensify the already strained relations between the United States and Germany.—Reuter.

Latin Americans End Inspection Tour

Miami, Nov. 8.

A group of Nicaraguan, Haitian and Mexican military chiefs yesterday boarded the Pan-American Airways stratoclipper "Rainbow" for the Panama Canal Zone.

The trip will complete the final leg of an inspection tour of U.S. defences by a second group of officers from Nicaragua, Haiti and Mexico.—United Press.

Sabotage Rampant In Holland

Unusual Opportunities for Anti-Nazi Groups Given By Nightly Blackout

London, Nov. 8.

Undreamed of opportunities for sabotage are being given Holland's ever-growing anti-Nazi organization by the rigorous blackout imposed on Holland owing to the passage of British bombers on their nightly mission of pounding Germany, says the "Frij Nederland," free Dutch newspaper published in London.

According to a message from the Rotterdam correspondent, warehouse and depot fires in various parts of Holland have been nightly events for the past three weeks, including a big blaze at a military camp, which the correspondent says greatly perturbed officials at Rotterdam.

As a result of the blackout there have been scores of accidents at level crossings, mostly involving military transports, while more and more German soldiers fall into canals while walking along the banks to camps or billets. Sabotage has increased so much that it is now admitted by the Nazis, the correspondent states.

Apart from fires the sabotage that annoys the Nazis most is destruction or interference with sign posts with the result that German troops frequently go miles out of their way before they discover the mistake. An order has now been issued imposing heavy penalties on anyone found interfering with sign posts. Transport is chaotic and people are permitted to travel only in cases of "dire necessity."

A Hague correspondent states that Herr Woudenberg, German labour leader in Holland, is meeting so much passive non-cooperation from the working classes that he finds it hopeless to impose his "new order."—Reuter.

Willkie to Address Nation Tuesday

Defeated Presidential Candidate to Tell His Followers Their Part

New York, Nov. 8.

Mr. Wendell Willkie, unsuccessful Republican Presidential candidate, announced last night that he would address the nation for a half hour Monday night to outline the role he believes that he and his millions of followers should play in the United States during President Roosevelt's third term.

Throughout his election campaign, it was recalled, Mr. Willkie charged that President Roosevelt's re-election might lead to dictatorship and bankruptcy in America. Yesterday Mr. Willkie said that his "basic beliefs" had remained unchanged by the outcome of the election.

Mr. Willkie will speak for a half hour beginning at 10.30 p.m. Monday (11.30 a.m. Tuesday, Shanghai Time.)

The nation's three major broadcasting chains have donated the time for Mr. Willkie's address to the nation.

Mr. Willkie said the viewpoint he will express Monday night would be his own. He said he would address his remarks to the entire nation, as well as to his 20,000,000 Republican followers.

Mr. Willkie said the "fantastic" volume of mail he has received since the election had prompted his decision to address the nation Monday night. Yesterday alone, he said, 10,000 communications reached his personal headquarters here and the various affiliates of his political organization.—United Press.

Fred Perry Divorced from Helen Vinson

Hollywood, Nov. 8.

Two more Hollywood romances went on the rocks yesterday.

Miss Helen Vinson, actress, obtained a divorce from the British tennis champion, Fred Perry, after testifying that he kept her awake nights by flying to violent fits of temper. She said he ran about their home shouting and slamming doors when in one of his temper fits.

Mrs. Rita Lowe meanwhile sued the screen actor Edmund Lowe for divorce. She charged him with being a "loveless, unfaithful husband."—United Press.

DR. Joseph King will speak in Chinese, at the invitation of the Chinese Mission to Lepers, over XMHD, the Shanghai Christian Broadcasting Association, frequency 760 k.c., from 7 to 7.30 p.m. this evening on the subject, "New Knowledge of Leprosy from the Bible."

AT about 12.45 p.m., two robbers, one of them armed, entered 435 Avenue Road and forced the inmates to give them all the cash on the premises. The bandits left after taking $600 in cash and a cheque for $1,900. The mystery lies in how the miscreants will change the cheque.

DURING October, the Public Library issued 15,700 books (15,070 foreign books and 630 Chinese books) to subscribers, 10,507 of fiction and 5,193 of non-fiction. 515 magazines were issued. 6,270 persons made use of the Reading-rooms during the month. The Library now has 1,239 subscribers.

YET another armed robbery was committed yesterday when three men gained entrance to 734 Newchwang Road at 4 p.m. and relieved the complainants of $500 in cash and valuables. One of the robbers was armed with a pistol, the main factor that forced the occupants to part with the treasure.

A MESSAGE congratulating him on his re-election as President of the United States for a third term was sent on Thursday by the People's Foreign Relations Association to Mr. F. D. Roosevelt, says a Chungking report to the "Cheng Yien Pao." "The entire Chinese people have been deeply gratified by your re-election for a third term, in view of the fact that you are leader in humanity's struggles for justice and righteousness," the message states.

COMMENTARIES on the Chinese military situation over the B.B.C. station in London by Mr. O. M. Greene, former editor of the "North-China Daily News," were relayed at 6.15 p.m. on Thursday by the Central Broadcasting Station, says the "Cheng Yien Pao." The subjects were "The Most Urgent Problem of the Day," and "Analysis of the China War Situation." Mr. Greene analysed the contributary factors leading to the recent Chinese victories at Nanning in Kwangsi and in East Chekiang. He praised highly General Pai Chung-hsi, well known Kwangsi strategist.

From NAGASAKI: Nagasaki Maru, with mail, due 3 p.m., Wayside Wharf.

From DAIREN: Dairen Maru, with mail, due 4 p.m., Whangpoo Wharf.

Due at Future Dates

All vessels are listed under their terminal port. The first date is that of the ship's departure from that port, and the second is the date she is due to arrive in Shanghai. Where a ship's name is duplicated it indicates the port of call last visited.

On account of the present international situation there is considerable interference with movements of ships, especially those from Europe. In cases where it is definitely known that the vessel is not running to schedule the Shanghai arrival date is omitted.

Shanghai Stocks

Yesterday's Business

The impressively firm New York Stock market had a stimulating effect on the local exchange yesterday, with very nearly all issues reaching levels which are the highest for some time. It was estimated by brokers that there was a fairly heavy over-bought position for the week, and it was surprising how little liquidation there was to be done, and how many new orders there were in the market. Amongst industrials, the usual favourites led the way, whilst in rubbers the crop of newly announced dividends restored confidence and most issues, Dutch in particular, were aggressively bought.

German Trade Delegation

Ankara, Nov. 7.

A German trade delegation arrived here today to discuss questions pertaining to the German-Turkish economic agreement. Under this agreement, Germany granted Turkey credits amounting to Reichsmarks 150,000,000 for the purchase of German products.

The agreement was signed shortly after a similar pact was concluded between Great Britain and Turkey which granted the latter £16,000,000 in credits for purchases of war material and other British products.—Havas.

Industrial Output Up

Washington, Nov. 8.

The Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday that industrial production continued to expand in the United States during October.

Production in October reached an estimated 127 on the adjusted index as compared with 125 in September. Ingot production was near by 65 per cent. of capacity output after increased domestic demand offset a decrease in foreign orders.—United Press.

New York Stocks

Thursday's Closing Quotations

New York, Nov. 7.

Stock prices on Wall street today finished strong and active, with gains ranging from fractions to 6 points recorded.

Reacting to the statement of Mr. Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, regarding the raising of the debt limit, stocks, bonds and commodity prices sky-rocketed in one of the biggest day's trading for several months.

The ticker tape at one time was two minutes late, and gains as high as 8 points were recorded.

Steels led the upward move, which more than overcame yesterday's losses resulting from the re-election of President Roosevelt. United States Steel, with a rise of 8 points, touched a new high for the year.

The turnover today amounted to 2,080,000 shares.—Reuter.

Dow-Jones Summary

By courtesy of Swan, Culbertson & Fritz

Stock prices boomed today on the inflationary implications of the announcement of the Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, that Congress would be asked to raise the debt limit by $20,000,000,000 and Government bonds ruled higher on reports that the Treasury would ask that the new issues be taxed. Youngstown Sheet and Tube for the third quarter earned the equivalent of $1.57 per share net, compared with only $0.33 for the corresponding period of last year. It is predicted that the fourth's quarter's net will exceed that of the third. Net earnings of the Curtiss Publishing Company for nine months were placed at $3.63 on the preferred share, compared with $2.61 per share last year. Pittsburgh Plate Glass has declared a dividend of $2.00, Westinghouse Airbrake $0.75 and Atlas Powder $2.00. Curtiss Wright is likely to declare a dividend of $0.50 per share on Friday.

Stocks: The current surge is likely to culminate soon. Hence, we would use strength to lighten accounts in order to take advantage of subsequent reactions. The Treasury announcement that it proposed to raise the Government debt limit, with its inflationary implication, precipitated buying in all markets. Pending the necessary legislation, wide price swings are probable, with the tendency upward until Government interference is indicated. The purchase of commodities on expected reactions is advisable.

Extension of U.S. Nat. Debt

Proposed Extending Limit to 60 Billions Tax Exemption on Govt. Securities Hit

Washington, Nov. 8.

THE Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Henry Morgenthau, announced yesterday that the Treasury Department will recommend to Congress that tax exemption on all classes of government securities be eliminated immediately.

Mr. Morgenthau said that taxation of government bonds would assist in defraying the mounting costs of national defence which will require further extraordinary financial arrangements.

National Dept

He said the Treasury Department proposes to ask Congress to extend the statutory limit on the national debt from a maximum of $45,000,000,000 to $60,000,000,000 and possibly $65,000,000,000.

The total government debt, he said, might hit $65,000,000,000 by June 30, 1942. Mr. Morgenthau declined to estimate government expenditures for the next four years, however. We have just begun to rearm, he said.

Mr. Morgenthau told the press that additional government borrowing up to June 30, 1942, would amount to approximately $15,000,000,000 or $20,000,000,000.

Defence Financing

One of the first steps in the government's financing programme, he said, will be to ask Congress to add $4,000,000,000 already authorized for defence financing to the present statutory debt limit of $45,000,000,000.

Mr. Morgenthau said he had no fear of inflation in the United States. He also said the Treasury has no intention of imposing retroactive taxes on government securities. The tax, he said, would be applied to new issues.

Mr. Morgenthau estimated that approximately $2,000,000,000 worth of state and municipal financing issues will mature next autumn. He said he expected that new issues would be taxed.

Pay As You Go Impossible

The Secretary said it was impossible to adopt a "pay as you go" policy at present. He declined to estimate the cost at which the government will be able to obtain money if tax exemption on government securities is removed. He admitted, however, that the cost might rise slightly.

Mr. Morgenthau reiterated that he had no fear of inflation.

With President Roosevelt here for another term, Mr. Morgenthau said, we can take the necessary steps when abnormal price trends appear and we are going to watch every minute. We will keep the cost of living stable.

Possible to Borrow

Emphasizing that the defence programme would have to be financed by borrowing, Mr. Morgenthau said that an increase in the national debt limit will make it possible for us to borrow all the money appropriated by Congress, and it will give us an opportunity to borrow it at the best rate available at the time it is needed.—United Press.

Japan's Purchases of Iron, Steel Scrap

Has Acquired Over Half U.S. Exports Since 1933

New York, Air Mail.

Japan purchased more than half of the total exports of United States iron and steel scrap since January 1933, according to the Iron and Steel Institute.

The total tonnage of scrap exported since 1933 amounted to 21,500,000 tons, more than five times as much as total exports of scrap in the first thirty two years of the century.

Embargo Effects

The report of the Iron and Steel Institute points out that both the tonnage and destinations of scrap exports are likely to be effected by the embargo recently placed upon such exports to all parts of the world, except to Great Britain and the countries of the Western Hemisphere.

Figures published by the Institute show that during the first five months of the current year, approximately 31 per cent of the 1,291,000 tons of scrap exported went to Japan, 26 per cent to Great Britain, while other European nations, particularly France and Italy, together took 31 per cent during the same period. Canada received only 9 per cent.

Recent Exports

During June, July and August scrap exports amounted to 1,109,000 tons, of which 44 per cent went to Great Britain, 31 per cent to Japan, and 17 per cent to Canada. Exports to Europe fell to practically nothing.—Havas.

London Stocks

Thursday's Closing Quotations

London, Nov. 7.

Quieter conditions prevailed on the London Stock Exchange today, but most sections maintained a firm front. Coppers were exceptionally weak, following the reduction of the dividend of Rhokana Corporation, but closed above the day's lowest levels.

Kaffirs were again the centre of attraction, registering substantial advances, while Britain gilt-edged securities were supported late in the session.

Japanese bonds strengthened.—Reuter.

Blunt Warning to N.E. Indies

"Japan's Aim Liberation Of Oppressed Peoples From White Race"

Tokyo, Nov. 8.

Boldly declaring that Japan's ultimate aim lay in the liberation of the "oppressed peoples of East Asia from the pressure and force of the white race," the influential Tokyo "Nichi-Nichi Shimbun," one of the "Big Three" metropolitan dailies, this morning editorially warned the Netherlands East Indies against adopting an "arrogant attitude" towards Japan.

Citing the alleged broadcast made by the Director of Publicity of the Netherlands East Indies Government, Mr. J. H. Ritman, in which he declared that the Netherlands East Indies considered itself outside the Japanese-sponsored chain of East-Asian co-prosperity, the "Nichi-Nichi" stated in its editorial:

"If the N.E.I. authorities intend to face the new situation in East Asia with the attitude of conquerors based upon the old order, they must expect an appropriate and sudden reaction.

"The changes in the Netherlands attitude probably reflects Anglo-American pressure, but if the Netherlands East Indies authorities believe they can evade Japan's just demands by petty haggling and the setting up of a bold front, they are grossly mistaken.

"Cunningly Prolonging"

"Netherlands men have the reputation of cunningly prolonging diplomatic negotiations. But if the Netherlands East Indies authorities intend to exceed mere diplomatic bargaining and assume an arrogant attitude of ignoring the principles and requirements of a chain of East Asian co-prosperity, they must expect an appropriate reaction.

"Our Government should not hesitate in the least to deal with such a situation."

The "Nichi-Nichi" expressed confidence that the success of Japan's negotiations with the Netherlands East Indies and French Indo-China regarding economic matters was just a matter of time.

"However," the Nichi-Nichi continued, "We should not be satisfied with mere economic prosperity in the area forming the chain of East Asian co-prosperity." The paper added significantly that French Indo-China should not remain externally under French domination, nor should the Netherlands East Indies forever be controlled by the Dutch.

The daily admitted, however, that the question was an issue of major interest for the affected peoples and not a matter included in the agenda of the Batavia and Hanoi talks.—Domei.

Rehabilitation Work In Kwangsi

Restoration of Newly Won Areas Around Nanning

Chungking, Nov. 7.

The rehabilitation measures which will be undertaken in the South Kwangsi areas recently recaptured by Chinese troops were outlined today by Mr. Huang Shu Chu, Chairman of the Kwangsi Provincial Government, in an interview granted to the Central News Agency.

The first step taken will be to urge refugees to return to their homes. Loans will be granted them with which they can start small businesses.

Public utility services will be restored immediately, he said, with the bus service, postal service and freight transportation system to start operating within three weeks.

Nanning, he said, will be cleaned up and the Provincial Hospital will be moved back to that city.—Havas.

Record Number of U.S. Volunteers

Intensive Drive for Men Will Continue

Washington, Nov. 7.

A record influx of volunteers has brought the United States' regular army to more than its peacetime number.

The figure of 375,000, for which Congress provides funds, has been passed nearly two months ahead of schedule.

An official stated today that an intensive enlistment drive is to be continued up to the new war strength objective of 431,000.—Reuter.

Petain Returns To Vichy

Vichy, Nov. 7.

Completing his visit to Toulouse and Montauban, during which he personally inspected the work of reconstruction being undertaken, Marshal Philippe Petain, the Chief of State, returned here by train today. Marshal Petain was accompanied on his journey by M. Marcel Peyrouton, the Home Minister, and M. Paul Baudoin, the former Foreign Minister.—Havas.

France Sends Army Attache to U.S.

Washington, Nov. 8.

The French Government is sending a high ranking army officer as military attaché to the French Embassy here, reliable sources said yesterday.

The Officer probably will go to Martinique with United States army officers to study the situation with a view to settling problems arising from France's position in Europe which might affect the U.S. and other countries of the western Hemisphere.—United Press.

More Turks Ordered Up

Ankara, Nov. 8.

Turks of military age who have not been called to the colours with their respective classes for compulsory military training, are now being ordered to report for training. Twenty classes are affected. This represents one of the measures followed by the President to strengthen Turkish armed forces.—Reuter.
